Emphasized

Fifty delegates from the Progressive Business clubs of San Pedro, Long Beach, San Bernardino, Los Angeles, Santa Barbara and other points north, east, west and south, assembled last night in the banquet hall of the chamber of commerce to welcome the Glendale Progressive Business club into existence with 16 members, headed by G. Hatch, Progressive club man, who is leaving the west for another assignment. The banquet will be held at Hotel Virginia, Long Beach. Members are invited to bring their wives.

At the close of the meeting last night Mr. Mosher, proprietor of the Huntington hotel, Los Angeles, suggested that all those beach city members who did not want to make the drive home should spend the night with him as guests at his hotel. This was hailed as a token of the brotherhood of the fraternity of Progressive Business club members.

The new club in Glendale will have two weeks to gather a total

LOS FELIZ ROAD LIGHTS ARE ORDERED

Petition of District Between Glendale and
S. P. Win Approval

The people on Los Feliz road between Glendale avenue and the Southern Pacific tracks, are to have ornamental street lights. A petition asking that ornamental lights be installed along this thoroughfare was presented to the city council last night, signed by 70 per cent of the property owners along this street. The council voiced its pleasure at this action on the part of property owners, declaring that it would make this gateway to the city one of the most attractive in the city.

Manager Dietrich of the plant and production department, stated that so far as the city being able to furnish electricity for this proposed improvement is concerned, there is no doubt but that the present plant would be able to do so. After considerable discussion it was decided to incorporate the ornamental lights in the general action for the improvement of Los Feliz so that the publication charges against this property might be kept as low as possible.

The matter of the character of streets lights for this street came up, and after some discussion it was decided to instruct Manager Dietrich to call a meeting of the property owners interested, so that the type of lights may be definitely decided upon. This must be done in order that the city may proceed with its eyes open. This meeting will be held Saturday night, if arrangements can be completed, in the old Tropic city hall building, over the library, at the corner of Brand and Los Feliz. If the character of lights is decided upon at this meeting the resolution of intention for the combined improvement of Los Feliz road will be brought before the council at its meeting next Thursday night for definite action.

Several of the councilmen expressed themselves sorry that so much delay had occurred in the improvement of this street, but now that the obstacles had been removed everything will be done to have the improvement work installed as rapidly as possible.

THE WEATHER
Southern California: Tonight and Saturday showers.
Los Angeles and vicinity: Unsettled weather tonight and Saturday with probably showers.

Women Who Smoke the Subject Tonight of James' Comment

Smoking on the part of women is a subject so delicate, says Henry James in his comment on the news of the day that the male of the species if endowed with ordinary caution will "lay off it." And sulking the action to the word Mr. James lays off it and speaks about women demanding equal rights. In the end he says that the matter is one that will have to be governed by the canons of good taste.

In "The Listening Post" tonight James W. Foley says that people are prone to worry, that it is one of the results of a high intellectual and social development. He claims that most of our worries are unnecessary, that when the time comes for struggle we will have the strength to meet it unless we have frittered it away in worry.

Uncommitted crimes are the most dangerous crimes, according to Dr. Frank Crane, who discusses this subject in his column tonight.

Five able editorials together with the other brilliant features of the editorial page are awaiting your consideration tonight.

ROTARY CLUB OUT FOR HI BOND ISSUE

D. Crofton, Harry Webb and Will Tanner Appointed Committee

In the absence of President Cooper, Vice President Roy L. Kent presided at the Rotary club luncheon held at the chamber of commerce Thursday noon.

In accordance with the provisions of the by-laws, a nominating committee composed of George K. Francis, J. W. Henry and "Cliff" Neale was appointed to prepare a slate of candidates for officers to be filled by election the fourth Thursday in April, viz., president, vice president, secretary, treasurer and two directors.

David Crofton, Harry Webb and Will Tanner were appointed a committee to boost for the high school bond election, which the club has endorsed.

Inasmuch as the charter of the club has been received, it was decided that the membership committee should now begin to function. There is room at present for nine more members and after these have been selected the club will be permitted to take in three new members a month.

The speaker of the day was Mr. Alexander Swartz, a member of the socialist party of Russia, who has been lecturing in all foreign countries on the Russian situation as he views it. He is the author of the book entitled "The Voice of Russia."

WHO WANTS TO TRY FOR POSTMASTER

Formal examination under the civil service rules for postmaster at Glendale will be held April 25, Postmaster S. Ripley Jackson announced today.

Candidates will not have to report for the work. They are to be judged on their application as to their fitness.

Postmaster Jackson, will take the examination, which will, if he is successful, bring him under the civil service rule.

SEVENTEEN VOTE HIGH TRUSTEES

At 11:45 a. m. seventeen votes had been cast at the polling place in Glendale Union High school for high school trustees. There was but one ticket in the field, the candidates being H. W. Yarik of Glendale and Mrs. Blanche Gardner of Eagle Rock, to succeed themselves. The election officer had to pace the corridor to keep himself awake because things were so slow, but that was expected as the election is merely a ratifying formality.

A Home of Your Own

CITY FORGES WATER ISSUE IN CANYON

Demands Deeds and Other Records From George Hanna

DELIVER ALL RIGHTS

Failure Entails Recording of Contract of 1919
and Possession

The council has decided to have the ownership of the water in Verdugo canyon decided without delay, if such a thing is possible. For years there has existed a question as to who is the actual owner of this water, which is so vital to the interests of Glendale, but when the matter came up from time to time action was deferred.

"I am determined to have this matter thrashed out once and for all time," said Councilman Stephenson last night. "We have been dilly-dallying along with this question for years and there is absolutely no sense in letting the proposition drift longer. If we are entitled to this water we want to know it so that we can act accordingly. If the water does not belong to us, we should also be aware of this fact in order that we may take steps to provide other sources of water supply."

In view of the existing facts so far as the council is concerned this matter may be turned down tonight, but I am going to bring it up at every session until some definite action is taken."

Councilman Kimlin said: "I do not like to be too hasty in this matter. I think we should give the Newport people all the chance in the world to come forward with a peaceful settlement, and for this reason I will vote to hold it over for one week."

When the vote was taken it stood two for and two against immediate action, Robinson being absent, this automatically holding the matter over one week.

The motion made by Stephenson was as follows:

That the city attorney be instructed to forthwith serve demand on George Hanna, on behalf of the city of Glendale, to execute and deliver to the city of Glendale all the deeds, transfers and other conveyances mentioned in and contemplated by that certain contract dated May 8, 1919, by and between the city of Glendale and said George Hanna, and further demand that said Hanna deliver

GLENDALE INVITED TO MONROVIA'S BIG DAY

Floral Parade and Other
Festivities to Mark
Birth of City

At its meeting last night the city council accepted the invitation of Monrovia to attend the floral parade, which will be held in that city on May 20th. This action was taken in response to the following invitation received by the council:

The city of Monrovia will celebrate her birthday this year on May 20th, beginning in the morning with a floral parade, which will be next to the largest of its kind in Southern California.

You are urgently requested to be our guests on that day and assist us in carrying out our plans in making it not only a Monrovia day, but a San Gabriel Valley day. We are preparing for the largest parade we have ever had, but only by the cooperation of our neighbors can it be the success we are hoping for. Will you not send an entry representing your city. Bring your families and come along for the day.

WEST BROADWAY GRADE IS NOW ESTABLISHED

City Council Adopts Ordinance and Determines to Push Work Rapidly

Another step in improving the west end of Broadway, which has been an eyesore to the people of Glendale for so many months, was taken by the city council last night. This consisted of the adoption of an ordinance establishing the grade of this particular stretch of Broadway. Just as rapidly as it is legally possible, succeeding steps for the improvement of this street will be taken.

Public Health Demands Big Joint Outfall Sewer

By JOHN H. GERRIE
Prosperity Editor Glendale Daily Press

Serious business confronts Glendale. It is the most serious that ever confronts and rapidly growing community. It is the business of HEALTH.

It means a great deal to Glendale of the present. It means EVERYTHING to Glendale of the future. In all fields of endeavor HEALTH COMES FIRST.

The basic requirement of the health of a community is sanitary sewage disposal. No city may grow faster than its sewers and for long remain healthy. Only a marvel city FOR A TIME may be an exception.

Glendale is such a marvel city. It is the fastest growing city in the country. Its population and its business are YEARS AHEAD of its sewage system. In fact it hasn't got such a system. Its reliance upon disease-breeding cesspools, antiquated septic tanks and the obnoxious sewer farm plan makes a DESPERATELY DANGEROUS companion with its speed in new homes and new people.

John H. Gerrie

With this TERRIFIC HANDICAP the fact that Glendale continues in good health speaks volumes for its location and climate and the character of its citizens. But let one single epidemic of typhoid fever gain a foothold in the CESSPOOL AREA and its ravages would be calculated to set this marvel city so far back in the march of progress that it NEVER WOULD GET BACK to the marvel class.

With commendable enterprise the new city council has appointed a special committee to devote its attention to the sewage problem. This committee has named sub-committees to make investigations, enquiries and surveys of various sorts, with the object of ascertaining the best available system to care for Glendale's PRESENT NEEDS.

It is understood that this committee, as well as a majority of the city council, are pinning their IMMEDIATE HOPES upon the activated sludge system, requiring a considerable treatment plant or sewer farm. Their belief seems to be that it may be a matter of TEN YEARS or more before a great outfall sewer to the sea may be built in combination by a number of inland cities in predicaments similar to Glendale. Pending the joint outfall sewer they favor the activated sludge plan to FILL THE BREACH.

The plan is plausible but it is ONLY A MAKE-SHIFT.

Glendalians as a class DON'T WANT MAKE-SHIFTS. They want only the real thing and the BEST THERE IS in real things. And many of them are beginning to show irritation that this serious sewer business is not handled in a big, broad, BUSINESS WAY.

There is only ONE comprehensive, all-satisfying way in which to handle the sewage problem of Glendale of the present and future and that is by OUTFALL TO THE SEA. "But the cost is prohibitive," will be the plaint of those who are working for the sewer farm scheme.

Yes, it may be prohibitive for a single, small city at the present time. But a JOINT OUTFALL SEWER would not be prohibitive, particularly if the other partner to the arrangement be the city of Los Angeles and the cost be borne in PROPORTION TO POPULATION.

As everybody knows, Los Angeles is in a sorry situation herself in regard to sewers. That situation is aggravated by the DANGER OF SEEPAGE from the cesspools of Glendale into the channels supplying the intakes of the Los Angeles water system. That would be a TERRIFYING condition of affairs for Los Angeles, would it not?

In sheer SELF-PROTECTION, if for no other reason, Los Angeles ought to see the advisability, in fact the NECESSITY, of sharing a great outfall sewer with Glendale. If the new sewer committee of the city council, headed by the mayor and city manager and attended by competent engineers and possibly other experts, would call upon the city council of Los Angeles.

The city authorities of Los Angeles are humans, like the rest of us. They understand the LAWS OF HEALTH and will quickly realize the constant MENACE of a populous neighbor whose sewage flow, without adequate outlet, must eventually invade the channels of their OWN WATER SUPPLY.

Partnership with Los Angeles in an outfall sewer looks like Glendale's ONE BEST BET.

Should Los Angeles city chiefs be so blind to their own interests, which would seem to be unthinkable, as to refuse to treat with Glendale except on a basis of annexation, one other course would be left to this city. Bring here the BEST ENGINEERING SPECIALIST in sewage disposal in the United States. Have him plan a system that will adequately and safely dispose of Glendale sewage until such time as a group of cities may be gotten together to build for themselves jointly a huge outfall sewer that will SETTLE THE SEWER PROBLEM for all time to come.

This alternative, however, should be considered only as a last resort. A joint outfall sewer with Los Angeles is the logical and BUSINESS-LIKE PROPOSITION for the sister cities. If there's anything in this sisterhood idea now is the time for Los Angeles TO SHOW IT.

But, stronger than that, PUBLIC HEALTH DEMANDS IT.

KING COAL MARSHALS HIS FORCES

Operators and Miners
Align for Greatest Struggle in Years

ISSUES ARE DEFINED

Mines Practically Cease
Operating As Strike
Date Nears

THE COAL STRIKE SITUATION AT A GLANCE

CAUSE

Bituminous operators refuse to renew national wage contract, insisting on state agreements and reduction of wages. Anthracite miners and operators, meeting in New York unable to reach satisfactory new contract.

EFFECT

Six hundred thousand miners out of work and fuel supply of nation menaced by cessation of work in the greater portion of the coal mining industry.

POTENTIALITIES

Threats made by sympathetic union workers, especially rail laborers, to go on strike to aid the miners with the remote possibility of a general strike.

Coal production in America dropped toward the zero mark today as miners began quitting and joining the great walkout scheduled to be 100 per cent effective at midnight.

However, there were developments which indicated the tieup will not be so complete as the United Mine Workers assert. The Kansas industrial court ordered men in its jurisdiction to remain at work. Lonnie Jackson, president of the scale committee in the Evansville, Ind., district, told his men to stay at work pending drawing up of a new wage agreement.

Operators of the six states in the trans-Mississippi district were considering re-opening their mines immediately after the union men go out, possibly under open shop conditions.

In Washington the house labor committee had before it a resolution urging President Harding to call a miners-operators conference to avert or shorten the strike.

PRODUCTION TO STOP

INDIANAPOLIS, Mar. 31.—Coal production stops at midnight in three-fourths of the nation's mines.

Five hundred thousand United Mine Workers of America will drop their picks as the whistles blow tonight and will not return until a new wage contract supplants the one now expiring.

Nothing can stop the strike. The few hours remaining before it becomes effective are too short a time for union officers to cancel their orders.

President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers said the strike will close 6000 of the 7500 mines in the United States and Canada.

The government is not expected to actively interfere until the 65,000,000 tons of coal reserve stored in the nation's bins is exhausted.

GOVERNMENT'S EFFORTS

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Last minute efforts to stop the nationwide coal strike before the zero hour—midnight tonight—were made in government quarters today.

A congressional gesture, aimed to induce President Harding to summon the opposing factions in conference and suspend the strike call for 30 days, was the chief hope of those leading an apparently fruitless drive against the impending strike.

All sides admitted the belated efforts to induce mediation were useless and hope was practically abandoned that any loophole might be found through which the 600,000 anthracite and bituminous miners might be kept at work.

FIRE DEPARTMENT TO GET TREAT

Laddies Saved Glendale
Considerable Sum and Banquet Is Promised

After considerable delay the boys of the fire department are to get that dinner that was promised to them some time ago by the city council. Several weeks ago the boys of the department saved the city a considerable sum on the repair of certain fire equipment and it was on account of this that the laddies were promised a treat. City Manager Reeves was selected to set the date and make all arrangements for this "feed" which will be held in the fire house on Broadway.

Portland Police to Stop Watch Teapsichore

PORTLAND, Ore., March 31.—They're going to hold a stop-watch on Teapsichore.

Portland authorities are contemplating a new rule to apply to places where public dances are held, limiting the number of steps shuffled by footrotters to 40 a minute, with other slower dances graduated down to where the schottische will vie in slowness with the motions of a small boy hastening toward the woodpile.

Mrs. Lola G. Baldwin, head of the Woman's Protective division, Portland police bureau, has been instructed by Mayor Baker to hold a watch on dances and call 'em down if they start exceeding the speed limit.

The morality of the dances, according to reformers and city fathers, who give ear to reformers, depends upon the speed at which a couple races around the floor. The swiftness of the motion, Oscar, is what you have to watch, not the kind of motion you use.

2 HOUR PARKING ORDINANCES ARE PASSED

New Regulations Apply to Broadway and Brand
Boulevard

Keep moving motorists. An ordinance was introduced at the city council meeting last night that will provide for a two-hour automobile parking limit on Broadway from Everett to Central, and on Brand boulevard from Colorado to California. When put into effect this ordinance will be in effect from 9 in the morning until 5 at night.

This ordinance has become a necessity through the congested parking conditions, especially in the region of Broadway and Brand. This condition very often makes it impossible for a person wishing to make a call of a few minutes' duration at one of the business houses to find a space in which to park, without driving to one of the outlying streets. This, it is generally understood, is a condition that should not exist, and it is with the aim of relieving this situation that the city fathers are putting this law into effect.

50-50 STREET WORK IS NOVEL PLAN IN GLENDAL

Nathan Rigdon, Builder,
Proposal Accepted,
Produces Bill

Street improvements done on a fifty-fifty basis is the latest in Glendale. It is a proposition that so far has never been attempted so successfully before. Some time ago Nathan Rigdon, who is one of the leading builders of homes in Glendale requested that Doran street between Central avenue and Orange street be improved and several large holes filled. City Manager W. H. Reeves explained that at present it would be impossible for the city to do this work as the street improvement fund is practically exhausted owing to the expansion of the city during the past year.

Mr. Rigdon asked if the city would listen to a proposition whereby he would do the work and stand half the expense. He was informed that the city would do this. Mr. Rigdon said that he had his cement mixer on the street at the time and would be willing to do the work. The work was authorized and yesterday the bill for it was presented. The holes along this street had been patched with four inch cement and other repairs were done. Mr. Reeves said that the actual value of the work would approximate $100. The bill presented to the city by Mr. Rigdon was $50.

This case was cited today by Mr. Reeves as one where a public spirited citizen was willing to cooperate with the city in keeping up with the growth of the city as regards street improvement.

WOODBERRY TAMES THE O. F. GOAT

One candidate, H. Woodberry, last night put on his spurs and rode the official goat over the rough road through the third degree of the Odd Fellows lodge of this city. Owing to the illness of Mrs. Carl Switzers, who had charge of arranging for refreshments, the Spanish supper scheduled for last night was postponed until the next meeting.

Dr. H. C. Smith was appointed next district deputy grand master of the lodge and also delegate to the grand lodge convention at San Jose in May. More than $700 in bills and charity were ordered paid last night by the members and it was decided to purchase new regalia for the degree team, to cost approximately $100.

DUPLEX MAKES A COMPLEX

Fight to Make Milford and Lexington Streets First Class District

APARTMENT GETS BY

Permit Already Issued
After Petition Filed
Mixes Situation

The effort to convert Milford and Lexington streets between Columbus and Pacific into a first class residential district is developing into a regular old-time community feud. For several weeks this proposition has come up before the city council and at each time something has come up that has caused a postponement, but it looks now as though the matter should be wound up before the national celebration takes place.

Six weeks ago the initial petition was presented to the council, asking that this section be put in the first-class department. There was something wrong with that initial petition and the petitioners were requested to bring in a correct petition the following week. When the correct petition was presented action was deferred for one week to give the residents of the section concerned time to protest. At the next meeting a numerous signed protest was presented. At this time both factions were present and the ensuing party proved to be one long to be remembered.

The result was that the matter was laid over again for another week. When the time of hearing came again another petition was presented by some of those who had signed the protest asking that their names be stricken from the protest. And so it went. So many petitions and protests were offered that the members of the council considered the number of the proposition of taking a week off, on pay, to see what could be done toward unraveling the tangle some tangle.

The matter came up again last

CONTRACTOR AGAIN REFUSED TIME EXTENSION

Zanich's Petition Opposed by Business Men of Downtown District

B. D. Zanich, the contractor who has the job for repairing the sewer on West Broadway, was refused an extension of time in his contract by the city council last night. Attorney Sherer, representing Mr. Zanich, appeared before the board and asked that an extension be granted, giving a number of reasons why the extension should be granted.

There are a number of the business men in the region of the sewer who claim their property has been damaged through the neglect of the contractor. The city council is not inclined to permit the contractor to get his money until he has settled for the damage done by the sub-contractor, who was under the supervision of the contractor.

The matter was held over to be taken up by the committee of the whole.

JINGLING JAZZ OF THE NEWS

By Bert Marple

Last night the lodge of odd men put the heartless goat in action. They picked on one lone, shrinking candidate; They're taking applications for the P. M. here in Glendale. Friend Jackson says the job is simply great.

The question of the water way up in Verdugo Woodlands, is making all the city dads look wise; Lloyd Wilson entertains a bunch of people from the city. The fire boys will get their stew and pies.

The motorist must move along, two hours is the limit. He cannot park his car all day "no mo'"; The council votes to send a bunch to the Monrovia party, "Back Pay" at T. D. L. is sure "some" show.

Divorces for the asking, say the London marriage makers. The Baptist church revival makes progress; There's not a public feature that is for the city's interest. That isn't boasted by the Glendale Press.

'YOUNG ONES MUST COME' CALLS DR. SHELTON

Belief that Dr. A. L. Shelton, noted American missionary who was killed by bandits in Tibet on February 17, was murdered while defending the natives against robbers and not while on a trip from Batang to Thassa, is strengthened by letters received by his daughters.

In a letter written January 4, received yesterday at Pomona, Dr. Shelton said he did not expect to leave Batang, his headquarters, until "late in the spring." On December 26 he wrote that "Batang is awfully poor now and robbers are all around."

What can almost be interpreted as a farewell message is contained in his letter of January 4:

"I don't think I will be able to keep the pace many years longer; come, I am glad you will see to it that the work will never cease."

Dr. Clifford Cole, of the Central Christian church, this city, has been for a number of years a close friend of Dr. "Bert" Shelton and no one, outside of the Shelton family, feels the death of this splendid man more than the Glendale pastor. When Dr. Shelton was in California last year he visited Glendale and told the story of his capture and rescue from bandits before a large audience. The local church has also kept in close touch with his daughters who are attending school in Pomona. Mr. Cole has no greater knowledge than the public, however, concerning the manner of Dr. Shelton's death.

Dispatches have quoted statements of Chinese officials who said Dr. Shelton had been warned not to attempt to penetrate Tibet as the natives were very unruly and had sworn vengeance on all white men, but he went forward nevertheless, accompanied by four guides, all armed. They were attacked by overwhelming numbers, the dispatches said, and Dr. Shelton was shot in three places, living a day and a half after he was struck down.

When the news of the tragedy was first received announcement was made that Mrs. Shelton, who was in Calcutta, India, supervising the printing of the Bible and hymn books in the Tibetan language, for use in mission work, would start at once for the United States, but this report was a mistake, Mr. Cole believes, as it has since been announced that she would remain there until her work was finished, duty taking precedence over indulgence in private grief.

LEADERS CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY OF LUTHERANISM

The five deacons of the University Halle, Wittenberg, led in celebrating the 400th anniversary of Lutheranism. The top picture shows a great throng, gathered from many countries, marching through the streets of the town made famous by Martin Luther. The Lutherans insist on maintaining the old standards and banners in black, white and red, with the imperial eagle, as shown in this picture.

'BILL' HOWE OPENS THEATRE TO VETS BENEFIT

The Glendale Program to Be Aid for Banks Post and Corps

This is the day anticipated by members of the N. P. Banks Post and Corps when the program at the afternoon and evening shows of the Glendale Theatre will be a benefit for the allied organizations. Through the generosity of Manager "Bill" Howe, who has a soft spot in his heart for the "old boys," a very generous commission has been allowed on all the tickets sold by veterans and corps members, and it is hoped the returns will be large enough to provide for the enlargement and improvement of G. A. R. hall where the organizations hold their monthly banquets and reunions.

Officers of the corps have had charge of the project and good work has been done by Mrs. Edward Kretschmer, president, Mrs. Priscilla Houdyshe, treasurer, and assisting officers.

SOME SHOP LIFTING.
VISALIA, Cal., March 31.—Visalia today pointed with pride to having discovered the latest in shoplifting devices.

A Mexican was arrested in a store here carrying a spring end hand bag. Officers said he placed the bag on the counter and when no one was looking seized what ever struck his fancy and, with a sudden push, the articles disappeared. The end is fastened on hinges and works with a spring.

EXETER BOND ISSUE.
EXETER, Cal., March 31.—The board of school directors today announced they would submit a $150,000 bond issue to the voters, the money to be used for school improvements. The date for the election has not been set.

Wants Her Diamonds

Princess Fatima of Afghanistan will tell the world that "it's a great life if you don't weaken." Scheduled to return to her native land, she has refused to do so until she can recover her 44-karat diamond, "hocked" in this country in order to meet expenses of her travels. The Princess says America has the greatest coterie of "city-slickers" in the world. She was "generally gypped," she asserts.

DUPLEX MAKES A COMPLEX

night for the council's entertainment. As usual both factions were on hand on mass and everything took place except slapping each other on the wrist. However, after lengthy discussion the matter was laid over for one week, while in the meantime the council will take the matter up with the committee of the whole, at which the city attorney will give a ruling as to the legal aspects in the matter.

All the trouble comes through the effort of a Mr. Swatfreger desiring to erect a duplex on his lot that is within the territory in question. As there is a small house on the rear of this particular lot the erection of the duplex would mean that when it is rented, three families would reside on the one lot. This the owners of the surrounding property object to. But as Mr. Swatfreger did not start the construction of his home until after the original petition was presented to the city council, they claim that although he has lumber on the ground and forms for the foundation in place, he should be made to stop the work and give up the erection of the duplex.

On the other hand, Mr. Swatfreger claims that the protests of these property owners are altogether out of place, on account of there being a store and one or two other such buildings in the block already and that the section could not be a truly first-class district unless these buildings, which have been standing for some time, were removed. He also states that according to law he secured a permit from the building department for the erection of his duplex and that he has not taken a step that has not been entirely legal. He stated last night that he purchased the lot about three years ago with the intention of putting up a duplex upon it, but that at that time he was financially unable.

In the meantime the pot boils--and so do the people in this particular district. They are holding their breath, for each fears the decision the council is compelled to hand.

FREE STATE APPROVED.
LONDON, March 31.—The Irish free state came into being today. King George gave his royal assent to the bill creating the free state. The house of lords approved the action of the house of commons in ratifying the peace treaty signed at Downing street by Irish envoys and the government, and the establishment of Ireland as a free state within the British commonwealth, was formally effected.

Nothing now stands in the way of all Ireland outside of the six counties of Ulster, becoming one of the nations of the world, save the threat of civil war, intensified today by the followers of Eamonn de Valera.

The Irish free state, brought into existence by the royal signature today, must hold elections of its first officers and parliament. De Valera, deposed "president of the republic," and his followers are determined that this shall not

CARPENTER'S UNION ENDORSES BILL

The Glendale local No. 563, Carpenters' Union, at a recent meeting unanimously endorsed the Sterling-Towner bill that is at present being considered in congress. This bill provides for the education of all children.

Mrs. Culver had artistically decorated her home in spring wild flowers and fern. In the afternoon a business session was held and a social hour followed.

The class has done some splendid work, having given $19 for Bibles for Russians, $10 to the Bible Institute for Jewish work, $5 to the leper colony and 200 articles of clothing in the last two months for missionary work. ### MRS. MOBERLY HAS UNIQUE FESTIVAL

Mrs. M. P. Moberly of the Mission Rest Home, 1011 South San Fernando road, is celebrating her birthday in a very unusual manner. Instead of being entertained herself, she has planned a splendid day for her patients and guests at the home.

At noon a banquet will be served for all boarders and attendants; covers being laid for 65. This will be followed by a concert to be given this afternoon by Mrs. F. L. Sante, a fine vocalist, who will sing the old songs that old people love. At 5 o'clock, refreshments of ice cream and cake will be served.

Mrs. Moberly is one of five sisters who live for the most part in Hollywood. Her nieces and nephews belong to Christian Endeavor societies and Epworth Leagues and they and their friends have shown great interest in this flourishing home for elderly people. Tonight they will give an entertainment at the home that is certain to be full of pleasant surprises.

Mr. and Mrs. Moberly came to Glendale in August, 1917, from Los Angeles where their work had outgrown their quarters, and transferred their business to the hospital building on San Fernando road where it flourished from the start. Realizing that it was a fine location, the Moberlys purchased the hospital together with five or six acres of ground. The interior of the hospital has been thoroughly renovated and made over and several bungalows needed for expanding patronage have been built.

Mrs. Moberly states that from now on it will be exclusive to a boarding home for elderly people, no one under 60 years being admitted. It has always been a very happy family, as Mrs. Moberly has made it a real home.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

IT IS THE MAN WHO PAYS 'ND PAYS 'ND PAYS

Girls, you've just got to stop these petting parties, cheek-to-cheek dances, 'nd everything. You have our young men crying for help. The struggle a youth has to put up to be nice and refined at sorority dances, community dances and coming-out parties these days is sumpin' terrible. In comparison, the well-known perils of Pauline are as nothing.

Ah, it's the man these days who is pursued by the woman, who fights vainly against her winning ways, who is basely deceived, and ultimately abandoned by her in the raging snowstorm, an outcast. It is the male party we find pulling a black shawl about his head in the final tableau, crying: "It is the man who pays 'nd pays 'nd pays!"

It is the man who today, his old beauty gone and his fine raiment replaced by rags, takes the iodine in the last act and shrieks at the cold-hearted girl who has wrecked his life. "Coils of you, Jacqueline Dalton!...I never should have trusted you!...would to heaven I had never given you the third dance!...I was a good boy when you took me in your power, Jacqueline, and NOW LOOK AT ME!"

And the villainess, to give the right touch to the scene, should stand near the wings, twirling a false moustache and muttering:

SAY FRENCH HOLD GERMAN GIRL FOR RANSOM

Alleged Peasant Girl Is Withheld from Her Parents' Home

BERLIN, March 31.—Women members of the reichstag have united, despite party differences, to demand the release of eight-year-old Marcelle Heymann, daughter of a Cologne working man, held for 5000 francs "ransom" by a French family at Nancy.

The women demanded at an indignation meeting that the government obtain the girl's release. If that fails they will try to raise the money.

Marcelle's parents left her with the French family at the outbreak of the war. When they asked for her return recently, the French family demanded 5000 francs for her, for food and lodging. "How can I pay five thousand francs—hundred thousand marks at present rates?" Willy Heymann, the girl's father, asked me when I visited him in Cologne. "I am, as you see, a leather-worker. I earn barely enough to support my family. I am unable to save. My wife and I would willingly sell everything to raise the money, but unfortunately all our furniture, linen and clothing was confiscated at the beginning of the war, where we lived in France."

"You can see yourself that we live in modest circumstances. Is there no humanity?" Heymann's wife interrupted: "I wrote to the family at Nancy who wanted to take Marcelle, when we were sent to a prison camp. I promised payment as soon as conditions here improved. But I received only the brutal answer: 'The child will be delivered only after payment.'"

"For over a year I haven't had a word from Marcelle. I don't know what I can do."

The softer a man's head the more he is inclined to butt in.

PROGRESSIVE CLUB
IN GLENDALE

of 25 members before it receives its charter. The officers are temporary.

Each member started out today with the intention of helping to gather in the additional ten members. It was predicted that the organization would roll up a mighty force in Glendale.

The initial membership consisted, besides the aforementioned officers and directors, of C. F. Hussar, Lee S. Davis, Ben W. Sherwood, E. E. Brown, druggist, J. R. Bentley of the Bentley-Schoeneman Lumber company, A. C. Rowsey of the Glendale Daily Press and Robert Cowan of the Glendale News. The Independent Lumber company sent notice that it wished to be represented in the new organization.

The meeting was opened by J. Frank Glendon, governor of the Los Angeles district of Progressive Business clubs.

An elaborate supply of smoking materials had been laid in for the event, and the smoker cased with a collation.

In explaining the purpose of the Progressive club, speakers stressed the point that no paid workers were employed excepting the secretary of the national organization, who also edits the national magazine.

Of the initiation fee of $25, $5 was contributed to the national headquarters, $5 to the work in states where there are no clubs, $5 to the district work and the remaining $10 is left in the local treasury. This, until the 25 members are acquired. After that, $12.50 of all initiation fees remains in the local treasury, $7.50 goes to the district support and the regular $5 support to the national work.

The purposes of the organization were set forth in a leaflet distributed to the members, which follows:

The Progressive Business club is a corporation, non-profit, non-political and non-sectarian, and is a national organization. Membership is made up of the several local clubs, and the local clubs are named "Progressive Business club" of the city where located.

Section 1. To engage in spreading the doctrine of true Americanism and to disseminate the highest principles and patriotic ideals of our United States government.

Section 2. To encourage and promote interest amongst different local clubs in proposed legislation.

Section 3. To seek enforcement of our national and state-wide laws.

Section 4. To record the work of existing Progressive Business clubs and values to respective members and communities, and to transmit the most valuable information obtained to all other Progressive Business clubs.

Section 5. To promote the spirit of fraternalism amongst members and between local clubs.

Section 6. To encourage each local Progressive Business club to pledge its active support to all meritorious civic movements and to cooperate in every way for the betterment for local conditions.

Section 7. To promote and encourage the living of the Golden Rule in private, civic, social and business life.

Membership is limited to two men from each line of business or profession. Only one classification can be held by a single member and that must be the one represented by the major portion of his business.

The Progressive Business club, being a national organization to which only American citizens are eligible to membership, can support all meritorious national movements; and can cooperate in every way with the government of the United States of America. Each member pledges himself to spread the doctrine of true Americanism.

Each local club pledges itself to actively engage in meritorious movements for civic development and the cooperative efforts of its members are of inestimable value to the community.

The benefits to be derived from membership in Progressive Business club are manifold, the most important of which are:

They come, my star boarders, Marauders, defrauders, under orders To make themselves hoarders of ham fats, jams, jellies and marmalades. Behold their miles-long, millions-strong parades!

The molling, tolling, trudging, drudging lady invaders! The mobbing, erratic, robbing fanatics, the terrible black things!

The mute looters! Deep they keep their track to my shack With their busy small in-and-out issuings.

Seeping in, creeping in, sweeping in, at the time of my sleeping. When, their fierce depredations beweeeping, I ought to be fighting them, smiting them,

The intriguing beleaguers! No, in they come, jostling, bustling, hustling; In they sift, apostles of thrift, interminably drifting in.

The sinister spinsters! A billion itinerants. A trillion noctivagants. Quadrillions of miscreants.

In joyance, in arrogance, insatiable as mad elephants, Eat of my substance, Eat of my store!

MRS. NEWTON BUYS UNIT COURT

Edith Osborne and Roy Ballagh Handle Sale, Price Being $50,000

Mrs. L. B. Newton of Los Angeles, through her agent, J. M. Boland, purchased the ten-unit bungalow court on Brand boulevard north of Doran street, yesterday, the sale being made by Edith May Osborne and Roy Ballagh, who acted as agents for Babcock & Weeks, former owners of the court. The price paid was $50,000. The property is 100x196 feet and in addition to the ten units there are eight garages. It is understood that the new owner will make a number of additional valuable improvements.

Other sales made recently by Mrs. Osborne include:

A home on Arden avenue from Mr. Elz to Clyde Wyman, this including a large lot and a wonderful dwelling.

A home at 332 Arden avenue from Mr. Kolli to Mrs. Bush, who purchased the place for herself and family.

A home at 1651 Gardena avenue from Mrs. Mix to Mrs. Elrod, who is now occupying the dwelling with her family.

A lot on North Orange street from Mrs. Jackman to Mrs. Burns.

GELMOR STARTS TO CLOTHE POLICEMEN

The Glendale police department is to have a new suit of clothes.

This morning bright and early A. Gelmor of 138 South Brand boulevard was called to the city hall by Chief of Police Frazer and informed that it is up to him to "take the measure" of all the police officers in Glendale. That is quite a job for one man but Gelmor, who is husky, says he knows he can turn the trick.

From this it will be seen that before a great while the Glendale police force will appear on the streets all "dressed up" in fine new suits of olive drab, just as they do in the great big cities. The initial order consists of 12 suits, the measurements for several of which have already been taken. All of the suits will be ready and on exhibition not later than May 25. About 25 of the boys will be "togged out."

The Glendale coppers are securing their suits 63 cents per suit cheaper than are the members of the Los Angeles police department, and the material they will receive is a better grade.

Notwithstanding this rush of work Mr. Gelmor says he will positively be able to deliver all of his other work in time for Easter.

SOUTH AFRICA IN THROES OF BLOODY REVOLUTION

Chinese mine laborers.

Premier Smuts.

Type of Negro miners.

The South African gold and iron mining district, known as the Rand, is in the throes of a bloody revolution. Striking miners are said to be fighting for the establishment of a soviet. Great throngs have stormed the law courts for permits to remain in the streets at night following a declaration of martial law. Many soldiers and civilians have been killed and wounded. General Jan Christian Smuts, South African premier, went to Johannesburg, seat of the trouble. The shaded area in the map shown herewith is the district affected. Chinese and negro miners have joined the revolutionists.

Paris Suggestion for Girl Who's Sorry She Had Her Hair Bobbed

Here is a suggestion direct from Paris for the woman who was carried away by the bobbed hair craze is sorry she was, and wants to let her hair grow out again. As can be seen, the trick is to use rather large and attractive pins and combs which do away with that "stringy" effect which comes when the hair is too long for bobbed hair and too short to permit of an elaborate coiffure.

ARMY AND NAVY STORE GROWS

The grand opening of the new Army and Navy store headquarters will occur tomorrow at this firm's new location at the corner of Brand boulevard and Harvard street. The leasing of this fine new storeroom has been necessitated by the wonderful growth this store has made during the few months it has been in Glendale. It seems as though the people of Glendale were waiting for just such a store as this, for from the very first the business of this firm has experienced a growth that is truly remarkable. This firm is proud of the fact that it has grown in four short months from a 1x50 to a 50x50 store, and the proprietors say that the growth of their establishment has just started.

During the past two weeks the new store of this firm has experienced a complete overhauling. Shelving, counters and other features that are needed to make this Army and Navy store modern in the extreme have been installed and now all things are ready for this grand opening feature. The new store will be equipped with a larger and more complete line of clothing, shoes, men's furnishings, hats, caps, notions, novelties, firearms, hiking goods, camping equipment, outing necessities, army and navy supplies, government meats, vegetables, soups and jams. This firm will not conduct special sales. Every day will be sale day at this store, and those who patronize this store are promised just a little more for their money than they can secure elsewhere. The business will be based on quick turn-overs, small profits and volume of business.

This Army & Navy store is conducted by Messrs. Miles, Waring and Johnson, all of whom are local Glendale boosters. Each of these men live right here in Glendale and this firm absolutely has no connection with any other store of this character in the country. It is a patriotic, boosting Glendale institution.

MARYLAND HEIGHTS BUILDING RAPIDLY

The sun plays lovingly these days on the beautiful homesites in Maryland Heights, out on East Broadway, where are located 64 of the finest homesites to be found in the entire San Fernando valley. More than thirty of these lots have been sold and the others are being disposed of rapidly. From East Broadway this property extends up the hill as far as the sagebrush, and every site is one that would be very acceptable for the home for just "we two."

One of the most appealing features is its proximity to the electric line and to the new high school site. This tract is within two blocks or one-fifth of a mile from the high school site. The front of the tract faces the Glendale-Eagle Rock electric line. To Eagle Rock over this line the fare is 3 1-2 cents by book and from Eagle Rock to Los Angeles the fare by book is 5 cents, making the fare from this tract to Los Angeles 8 1-2 cents by book. This feature alone makes this very attractive as a homesite for the average man who works in Los Angeles.

The prices that are being charged for these lots include all street work such as graded and macadamized streets, sidewalks, curbs, etc., and the work of installing these improvements is well under way. This work has been interfered with by the recent rains, but with the coming of bright and sunny days it will be rushed to completion. The excavation for the business block that is to be erected a short distance east of this tract has been finished and work on this building will be started within a short time, according to reports.

C. W. Jackman is very enthusiastic over the prospects of the eastern section of Glendale. "I believe there is no section of the city that has such a bright future as has the eastern section of Glendale," he said this morning. "I have reached this conclusion not because I have holdings in that section, but because it looks that way to me. Six months ago this eastern section was practically dead, but with the coming of the high school to the east side and the cheap fares to Los Angeles, coupled with the many attractive natural features of this locality, this section would not remain unnoticed."

Hill Buys Nice Home.
R. E. Hill, who is with A. J. Lucas, real estate, 209 South Brand boulevard, has purchased the beautiful home of Ezra Palmer in Montrose. The home is completely furnished, and it is stated that Mr. Hill is working over time beautifying the place.

BIG SALE ON AT FISHER'S

Fisher's Variety Store has been having one of the biggest and best sales ever put on here, and Mr. Fisher states that he expects it to continue brisk up to Saturday night.

Although it is termed an Annex Sale, the buying is not by any means confined to the new room—Annex—recently added to this popular store. The additional floor space added to the Variety Store makes it the equal of the big city stores of its kind. Mr. Fisher is certainly treating the public right and the people are showing their appreciation by giving his store liberal patronage.

Ancestors Owned State of New Jersey, Fights to Regain 15,000 Acres

Mrs. Elizabeth Clark, of Atlantic City, a descendant of one of the thirteen original proprietors of the State of New Jersey, has formed a corporation to go to court with a claim for 15,000 acres of land which was given in a grant by Queen Anne of England in 1695. Mrs. Clark has called a meeting of the thirteen original owners to push a campaign for restitution of land alleged to have been sold without authority and clear title.

TUJUNGA DELEGATES VISIT C. OF C.

A delegation from the Tujunga chamber of commerce visited the Glendale chamber this morning, seeking information regarding the proposed trade trip on April 19 through the San Fernando valley, and asking permission to send several auto loads of Tujungans on the trip, which was granted. The representatives of the Tujunga chamber were John S. Knox and D. A. Johnson.

Further plans for the trip, as announced from the office of the secretary of the chamber this morning, are to the effect that a motion picture cameraman has been secured to accompany the party on the trip. He will take pictures along the line of travel and bring the scenes back to Glendale to be exhibited at one of the local playhouses for the benefit of those unable to make the trip.

TOGGERY TASTE HERE

The Quality Toggery shop, 111 North Glendale avenue, has put in a line of the better grade of goods and is catering to the best trade. The proprietor has shown his belief in the future of Glendale by buying the brick store rooms and lot, one of which is occupied by an ice cream company. He has come to Glendale to stay, and is making prices that will attract the people.

COUNTY ACTIVITY IN SOCIAL WORK CONFERENCE

Plans to Be Formed at Meeting in Union
League Club

Plans for the participation of Los Angeles county social service workers in the California conference of social work, to be held at San Diego April 25-28, will be made at a luncheon to be held at the Union League club, Los Angeles, Monday noon.

With five out of seven of the conference departments headed by Los Angeles county welfare workers, it is expected that a large delegation will leave Los Angeles for the south next month. Dr. Harold J. Williams of Whittier is to have charge of the program on delinquency problems; Edward B. DeGroot of Los Angeles, recreation; Mrs. Herbert A. Cable, Los Angeles, industrial; Mrs. O. Shopper, Los Angeles, education; Dr. Miriam Van Waters, Los Angeles, family and child welfare; C. W. Wollenberg, San Francisco, relief; Dr. Walter M. Dickie, Berkeley, health.

Mrs. Charles H. Richmond, chairman of the public affairs committee of the Hollywood Women's club and a member of the Los Angeles social service commission, will preside at Monday's luncheon. Reservations are being made at the office of the social service commission, Normal Hill Center, Los Angeles.

Membership in the conference—which, with 2100 members is the largest state body of its kind in the United States—is composed of organizations and persons patronizing or practicing professionally some branch of social service work, either in connection with a private agency or a governmental institution. Club women, teachers, ministers, judges, district attorneys, organization secretaries, nurses and physicians are on its rolls.

SOUTH AMERICA IS INTERESTED IN SPORTS

United States Athletics
Are Taken Up by Southern Neighbors

BUENOS AIRES. (By Mail to United Press).—Cricket, tennis, bowling, football, even down to ping pong—one might find all of them on the sporting page of any Buenos Aires daily. This country in the last few years has forgotten the rough games of colonial days on the pampas and taken to modern athletics as enthusiastically as New York does on a Saturday afternoon.

The international soccer series for South America was played off the calendar, followed by international tennis. Then sportsmen began to talk of raising funds to send a polo team to England. Horse racing always has several columns and golf notices over the weekend appear in such volume that one readily understands the whereof of the numerous stretches of suburban greens.

Nocturnal tennis, played on courts brilliantly illuminated with high candlepower electric globes, has already been improved upon, and night swimming is the current fad. In fact, there is something of a boom in swimming locally, star performers taking off from the Tigre delta at midnight, bound for the capital, and others choosing to attempt to cross the Rio de la Plata, a truly Olympian passage. The yacht clubs have followed suit and now night races are scheduled, so the sporting editor gets little sleep.

One can run a thumb straight down the list through about every known pastime except surf board riding and elephant hunts, and find them in the list. The English churches foster ping pong tournaments, the chess enthusiasts now want to join New York in international cable matches.

WHOLESALE TAILOR HEADQUARTERS IN GLENDALE

E. and S. Company Lo-cates on South Brand
Boulevard

The E. & S. Wholesale Tailors, with headquarters in Denver and Los Angeles, have opened a temporary location at 108 South Brand boulevard, where they promise to give the men of Glendale good service in the clothes line.

The E. & S. Wholesale Tailors claim to be the largest firm of tailors west of Chicago. This firm has 187 stores in the middle western part of the country, all of these having headquarters in Denver. It is the plan of this firm to establish 85 stores in California. Six of these have already been located, and others will be placed just as soon as locations and satisfactory arrangements can be made. For this chain of California stores, the Los Angeles establishment, located at Second and Hill streets, will be headquarters. The present location of this firm in Glendale is only temporary and will be occupied for two or three weeks, after which a move to a new location will be made.

This firm secures its locations through the advice given it by the large woolen mills in the eastern part of the country. These mills secure their information from the chambers of commerce throughout the country. It was through advice of this kind received by the firm that it has chosen Glendale as the location for one of its stores.

There will be no ready-made suits turned out by this concern. Every suit sold will be made to order and will carry the guarantee of this enormous firm. The prices charged will be $22.50 and up, and some of the values that are being offered for this smaller amount are astonishing. Right now this firm has an assortment of woollens, tweeds, etc., on display that is sure to please the most fastidious.

The tremendous purchasing power of this firm can be seen when it is stated that one recent consignment of imported woollens amounted to $285,000. This included tweeds, French back, serges, basket weaves, hard-finished worsted, etc. In addition to handling imported goods this firm at all times carries a complete assortment of the finest goods procurable in America.

By Friday this concern will have more than $6000 worth of woollens on its shelves. Until the firm moves into its permanent quarters it will make suits at the Los Angeles headquarters, but just as soon as a permanent location is secured between eight and twelve tailors will be brought to the Glendale establishment. This firm turns out completed suits within one week—one week from the time you order the suit, you are wearing it on the street.

R. M. Arnold is manager of the local store and G. W. Smith has charge of the California chain.

CORD TIRES PROVE THEIR EFFICIENCY

"Cord tires will eventually displace fabric," said R. B. Tapp, local manager of the Automobile Tire company of California.

"Through the wonderful service that cord tires are rendering, especially in Southern California, it is belief that there will come a time when factories will make nothing but cord tires."

"Take two treads of the same construction and material and put one on a fabric tire and the other on a cord, and the tread on the cord tire will run many more miles than the one of the fabric. The reason for this is the greater resiliency of the carcass construction in the cord tire, which tends to lengthen the life of the tread."

"Easier riding comforts are to be obtained from the cord tire for two reasons. Resiliency and valuer air pressure. On account of their resiliency you may use less air pressure in cord tires, as the rubber impregnated cord will give and do not have the same bending tendency that fabric does. Five to ten pounds less air pressure may be used in cord tires."

"On account of their resiliency they are practically immune from punctures, stone bruises and blow-outs from fractures caused by other injuries."

"Another desirable feature is the high coasting abilities, which decreases the power required to keep them in motion, effecting quite a saving in gasoline consumption."

"Almost every car, with the exception of Fords and other light-weight cars, are being originally equipped with cord tires, and many drivers of the lightweight cars are changing over from fabric to cord, especially on the rear wheels."

CURBING OUTLINES GLENDALE HEIGHTS ACTIVE DISTRICT

Grading and Road Building
Drives Hard to Meet
Home Construction

With curbing going in at the rate of 1200 feet daily and with a small army of men and teams busily engaged in grading the various streets, Glendale Heights is a veritable hive of industry. The heavy rains of the past few weeks have interfered considerably with the progress on the tract but with the advent of fair weather the work is going ahead in a manner indicative of splendid results.

Grading on Yale and Princeton drives is well under way and according to Mr. Haddock, contracts have been let for the completion of the entire system of driveways. Immediate arrangements are being made for the improvement of Adams street which bisects the tract and which when finally opened will make a short cut to Verdugo road that will shorten the distance between Los Angeles and Glendale approximately 1½ miles.

Foundations for five new houses have been put in during the past few days and twenty-five others are announced to go up in the immediate future. The high character of Glendale Heights is attested by the fact that none of these homes will cost less than $6000, ranging from that up to $25,000.

"We are determined to make Glendale Heights the real show place of Glendale," said Mr. Haddock. "To this end we are sparing no effort or means. We are trying to make of it a homing place for people who desire a nice quiet, congenial neighborhood and where they can feel the thrill that comes from being located on a vantage point from which one can survey the valley below. Last Sunday hundreds of automobiles drove out on to the tract and we anticipate a tourney of visitors this coming Sunday."

A Year Ago Today

(From Glendale Daily Press for March 31, 1921)
Auxiliary members of the St. Mark's Episcopal church were luncheon guests at the home of Mrs. Eleanor Squires, 320 Riverdale Drive yesterday. The earlier hours of the afternoon were spent in visiting and marking the new articles enclosed in the Southern California Diocese Mission box which is sent to Alaska every year by the organization.

Notice was received today by Captain Thomas D. Watson, commanding officer of the fifth separate company infantry, California National Guards, to prepare his company to attend the annual encampment of the National Guards to be held during the last 15 days of June.

The newly organized Glendale Music club is preparing to give its first public program tomorrow night at the high school in the auditorium. Several distinguished artists are to appear on the bill.

COUNCIL WORKS HARD ON DETAIL DEVELOPMENTS

Mass of Ordinances, Maps and Bids Come in Meeting's Routine

An ordinance was introduced by Councilman Stephenson at the council meeting last night making it legal for the city to bid on all public work done in the city. Heretofore the city has not been able to bid on the extension of public utilities and the like.

Map of tract No. 4490, which includes the property of Mrs. Carr on the east side of Glendale, and the new street known as Carr drive, which Mrs. Carr desires to give to the city was held over by the council for further consideration.

Map of tract No. 5027, which includes Oakridge drive, located in the region of Forest Lawn cemetery, was adopted by the council.

Warrants to the extent of $30 in payment for the work that was done in connection with the check of traffic on the Pacific Electric line for facts to be presented to the board of public utilities of Los Angeles in the request for a franchise to operate a bus line on certain streets of Los Angeles, were ordered drawn in favor of the proper authorities.

The opening of bids for the construction of the swimming pool took place last night and they were referred to the city engineer for report.

Bids were opened for the construction of the sewage disposal plant in the Verdugo Woodlands district, and action was deferred for one week.

Bids were opened for the improvement of Belmont from Lomita south, Justin avenue from Glenwood to Eighth and Lexington, from Pacific to Chester, and all were referred to the city engineer.

The application of C. M. Retts for change in the set-back line from 25 to 10 feet at 112 North Columbus, was laid over for one week in view of the fact that a number of protests were filed against this action, notwithstanding the fact that the house next to the one Mr. Retts proposes to build is situated on the 10-foot line, according to claims made.

Two applications for permits to maintain auto parks on San Fernando road were received by the council. One was from Claude A. Haas at 1133 South San Fernando road and the other was from J. M. Baugman and P. H. Hatfield of 520 South San Fernando road. Both of these were laid over for one week in order that the council might give them further consideration. One councilman stated that in the past the council has had considerable trouble with auto camps and that the board was inclined to go so slow as to granting additional permits is concerned.

A resolution adopting specifications No. 46 for the improvement of Brand boulevard between Colorado and Windsor road with a preparation known as whillite, was adopted.

Resolutions of intention to improve the following streets were adopted: Brand boulevard (Colorado to Windsor); Kenilworth (Broadway to California); Jackson (Colorado to Broadway); Kenwood (Colorado to Broadway); also for the laying out and extending of Maryland avenue north to the Verdugo wash. A resolution of intention to vacate a certain alley in tract No. 2691 was adopted.

An ordinance prohibiting the discharge of fireworks in the city of Glendale was adopted.

The matter of granting permits to carry firearms within the city of Glendale was referred to the city attorney. In the past the term "special police officer" went with the granting of every permit to carry firearms, but at the request of City Manager Reeves it has been about decided to away with this practice. A legal question arose as to the action of the council in this matter, this resulting in the proposition being referred to the city attorney for a ruling on the question.

DUNLOPS CROWD BURBANK MEETINGS

Interesting, elevating and spiritual are the addresses each night by Evangelist Dr. H. P. Dunlop in the old-fashioned revival meetings now on at the Burbank Presbyterian church. The whole community is feeling the impact of this work of grace and large crowds turn out each night.

"Be sure your sin will find you out," says the evangelist. "Sin is its own detective and God's bloodhounds are on your trail, my brother, and you had better hide from God by hiding in God. Physically, your sin will find you out. The devil's canvas is the human body, and oh! the awful wrecks that people become through sin and immorality. Treat sin like it treats you—stab it to death. Trust nothing, a leopard, a snake, a lion, but never trust sin. Sin is as unsatisfied at the end as at the beginning. And hell is practicing that sin, my brother, forever, with no chance for satisfaction."

Sunday will be the closing day of this special campaign with services each night, 7:30 to 9. Special music by a fine chorus choir and duets by Dr. and Mrs. Dunlop.

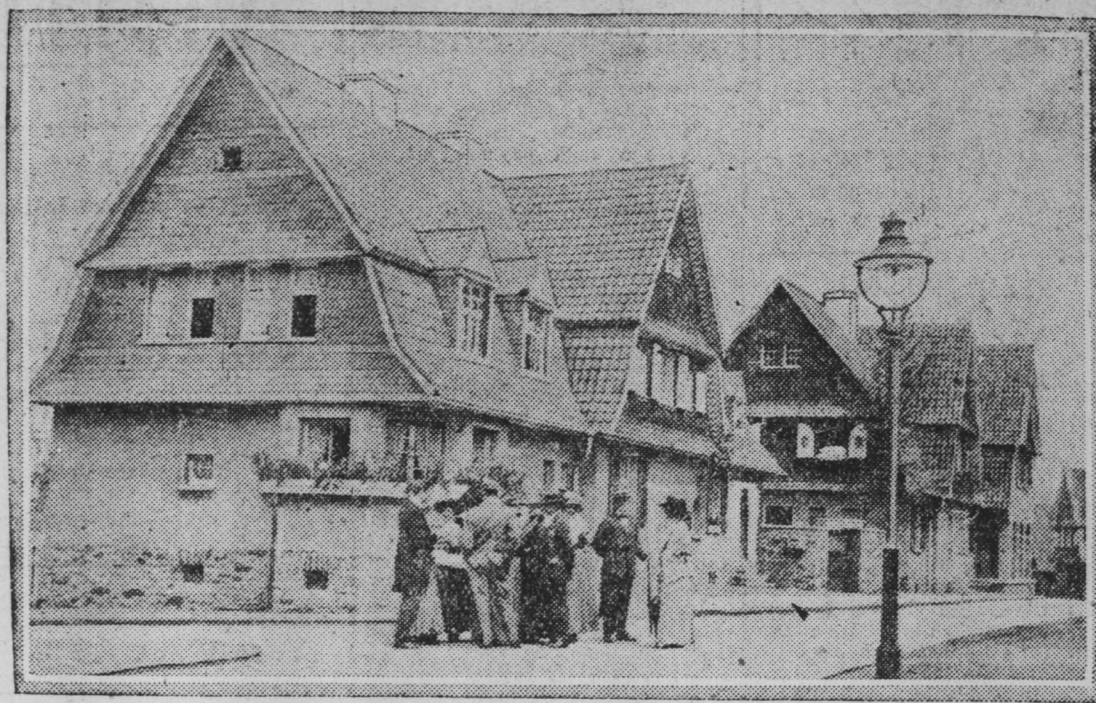

A professor of biology addressed his class thus: "I propose to show you a very fine specimen of a dissected frog which I have in this parcel."

Undoing the parcel he disclosed some sandwiches, a hard-boiled egg and some fruit.

"But—surely I ate my lunch!" he said.

THESE COTTAGES ARE SEEKING TENANTS AT $2 PER WEEK

Yes, 'tis true, these houses are absolutely seeking tenants at a rental of $2 per week. Sounds too good to be true, but wait a minute. They are in Germany. In the little village of Margaretenhof, on the outskirts of Essen, the housing problem has been solved by the erection of these tasteful and comfortable cottages for the use of the Krupp factory employees. And at $2 per week, although that is a considerable number of marks.

DYNAMOS CORRECT OFFICERS

The third semi-annual election of the DYNAMOS club was held Sunday night at which time officers and committee chairmen were elected as follows: Graham Tinning, secretary; Orrin Barnes, chairman of vocal music; Joe Maier, chairman of instrumental music; Percy Jewell, social service chairman; Gale Kennedy, flower chairman; Kenneth Wilde, athletic chairman; Tom McClellan, chairman of Sunday publications.

Earl P. Hammond, the retiring head of the organization, had been president for two terms and during that time had published three issues of "The DYNAMOS," which is said to be the largest Sunday

HOTTENTOT OPENS AT THE RIALTO

Tonight "The Hottentot," the nationally discussed comedy, still running strong in New York city, is the extraordinary attraction at the Tent theatre, Harvard and Orange streets, and in the hands of the Rialto players it should prove a winning card.

Unlike most ultra comedies, "The Hottentot" has a deep-laid plot on such novel lines it is said to be a mirthquake of laughter, and the management advises "if laughter makes you sick, bring the doctor with you."

Just recently this play had a several weeks' run in one of Los Angeles' stock theaters. No doubt the commodious tent playhouse will be filled to the last seat.

The announcement is also made that in accordance with the Rialto policy the vaudeville numbers between acts and the orchestra program will be entirely new, for each change in play brings a complete change in the show.

Tomorrow, Saturday afternoon, a matinee performance will be provided for children and adults, the admission being 10 cents for any seat in any part of the tent. "The Brat" will be the play for the matinee and will be presented only the one time.

IF YOU WOULD BE WELL

'Tis a perfect joy to wander around, from shop to shop, selecting here and there, the interesting and the novel to bring to you, dear homemaker, that your duties may be made more pleasurable! And this is just the season when the shops are filled with all sorts and kinds of lovely things, designed expressly to make the feminine heart beat a wee bit faster! For 'twas only today I gazed longingly at one of the most beautiful evening dresses of the season—then, up the street in one of our own Glendale shops, I was simply fascinated with the wondrous display of lovely jewelry—and so on through the list! So, here, in these columns, I'm bringing you word of the latest the merchants of Glendale are offering for your approbation—that you may, in part, enjoy my days' visitings with me!

Fashion has retained her hold Paris sanctions the sports types and has put her stamp of approval on strictly tailored suits for spring, while not omitting dress models for day and evening, often quaintly picturesque and distinctly feminine as to their frills and furrowings.

INDEED IT IS A CONVENIENCE

to be able to simply telephone BAINES'S SHOE REPAIR SHOP, at 312 East Broadway, and have them call for and deliver your shoes! But the beauty of it is, that Mr. Baines's prices are conceded to be the cheapest in town—despite his excellent delivery service! Why, do you know, that they'll call for a pair of shoes in the morning, repair and return them the same afternoon! $1.50 is the price for sewed soles and rubber heels—ladies' shoes; and $1.90 for men's. While, if the kiddies shoes are ripped, just send them down to Baines'—and he'll repair them free of charge!

upon crepe weaves for formal and dressy costume, and the weaves have been taken up also for sports suits, skirts, capes, etc. in varied texture, and colors have been added to novelty stripes, some of the latest of which show a brush wool effect wrought in pure silk.

THE CHARM OF AN OPEN

FIRE PLACE, while outside the air is yet a bit chill, adds infinite pleasure to the wonderful dinner served at YE OLDE OAK TREE INN—on North Verdugo road, about one mile south of Montrose. The food is all home-cooked—flavored just to the Queen's taste—and beautifully served. When you're out driving on Sunday, just plan to drop in at Ye Olde Oak Tree Inn for dinner—you'll find it a rare treat, for the rambling California home, with its wide verandas and spreading oak trees, as well as the excellent food makes it a spot that is truly delightful! And such chicken as you've never tasted is their specialty. Phone Glendale 2243-J-1 and order the dinner, first!

A distinctive afternoon dress with modish breadth of skirt and sleeve emphasizes the last word in fashion by being made in dark blue printed crepe de chine with bands of open-work insertion and plain sulphur yellow crepe collar and belt with fancy buckle.

THESE ARE THE DAYS when

'tis a perfect joy to wander around, from shop to shop, selecting here and there, the interesting and the novel to bring to you, dear homemaker, that your duties may be made more pleasurable! And this is just the season when the shops are filled with all sorts and kinds of lovely things, designed expressly to make the feminine heart beat a wee bit faster! ### EGGS, OF COURSE, will be the paramount feature of Easter breakfast—but have you given their preparation much thought? Come with me for a moment to the GLENDALE ELECTRIC CO. of 132 North Brand boulevard—that we may investigate their wonderful new electric grill that poaches eggs so successfully! It has a dandy three heat switch—and on top a container for water, in which may be placed the individual cups for the eggs. Then, underneath the bacon may be cooked, or the bread toasted—at the same time! And, too, the Easter breakfast table must be equipped with a handsome percolator and a dandy little waffle iron! Do stop in at the Glendale Electric Co. to see them!

and suit skirts do not, however, exploit wide or long skirts. While the tendency is toward the wider skirts, the others do not lose their wider position.

AN EASTER SUIT? Then, of course, the selection of suitable neck-wear must be given due consideration. Do drop in at Sherrod's Specialty Shop, 207 E. Broadway, for they've just received a shipment of charming new vests and collar and cuff sets for spring. Freshly crisp and bright ormandies, set off with a delightful embroidered or stitched in gay colors, and demure lace vests of finest materials are all being shown. But most surprising of all you'll find the exceptionally low prices at which they're marked. Remember—Sherrod's for your spring neck-wear!

DAME FASHION, being truly

feminine, just insists on comfort. Hence, at this season of the year, Milady would no more think of appearing in street costume without a smart fur choker or scarf, than of wearing her luxurious fur coat in the heat of summer—for it simply isn't done. That's all! The fur when worn with a modish spring costume, is the finishing touch—and as such should be selected with great care and tastefulness. Miss Bedell of the BEDELL FUR SHOP, 1125 N. Louise St., is a designer and maker of furs that are individual and distinctive—and will add a decided note of charm to all costumes. She will cleverly make over old furs, or beautifully design a new piece to suit your personality—call her at Glendale 229-3 and ask about prices!

When gold or silver lame thread stitches them, pin tucks become exalted.

YOU'LL KNOW THAT SUMMER

—with all its glorious evenings to be spent on the porch enjoying the cool breezes is nigh—when you've seen the lovely new grass furniture that has just been received at the ENTERPRISE FURNITURE CO., 216 East Broadway. There are inviting rockers, and good-looking tables, as well as comfortable settees—for the summer cottage—at prices that you can easily afford to pay. And, too, if you are refurbishing, don't forget that the Enterprise have a charming selection of beautiful rugs—also at extremely moderate prices!

AT EASTER TIME and for

Easter Sunday, of all times, Milady will want what little jewelry she wears tastefully selected! At ARTHUR H. DIBBERN'S—121 North Brand boulevard, you'll find an attractive display of bracelets of rare charm—beautiful in their very simplicity, while the novelty rings are a joy to the feminine heart. And pearls! oh, my! Mr. Dibbern has without question the loveliest selection of pearl necklaces I've seen in ages! Do drop in at his attractive shop and look them over—for wear with a pretty Easter frock—they are unsurpassable!

Large wooden beads are stained to harmonize or contrast with the gown color, and may be arranged in rope fashion or mounted upon a wider girde of fabric or ribbon.

NO, MY DEAR, you needn't hesi-

tate for a moment about sending the finest and sheerest of lacey things as well as your heavy, wooly blankets to the Glendale Laundry—for both will be washed to perfection. And, another thing, you needn't worry about the cost either—for when strength and labor are taken into consideration you'll find it much cheaper than washing at home! Call Glendale 1630—and ask about their rough dry proposition—it will surely interest you and particularly if you're a family

AT THE SIGN OF BARGAINS,

my heart always beats a wee bit faster. But at the Shop Unique—125 W. Broadway—this desire to shop was indeed fulfilled! The famous Zanol products that are on display in their window, I found, were being offered only at the regular list price, and the premiums that are offered are absolutely free! For instance—there's the talcum powder and tooth paste at the regular price of 50c—but with the purchase is given free a dandy tooth brush! $1.49 buys a jar of cold cream, a bottle of dermaline of roses and an excellent face powder—and entitles you to a handsome lace scarf! And while you're at the Shop Unique don't fail to ask about the wonderful orange flower skin cream that preserves and beautifies the skin—it is only 50c the jar, and simply works wonders! You'll also be delighted, I know, with the mul-sified coconut oil shampoo that, when used just a few drops each time, will keep your hair soft, fluffy and brilliant in color!

Smart for a game of tennis or a walk on the sands, is this slip over dress of beige wool jersey with border of white and cuffs of French blue jersey. And a binding of burton hole stitching in metal threads. A belt of patent leather appears in front only, and is matched by a tie of black satin cire.

DID YOU ENJOY THOSE DE-

LICIOUS, fresh, butterhorns you bought at the ROLLIN' PIN BAKE SHOP, 248 East Broadway? Then, you will certainly love the Danish Pastry which they make—for it is just about twice as rich as the butterhorns—and why not, for they use as much butter as flour, and only fresh milk, in the mixture! And a baked to a delightful golden brown! The Danish pastries, which is richer and larger, 10c each! Stop in at the new home of the Rollin' Pin Bake Shop and try some—I know you'll want more!

A decidedly strong revival of the softly hanging chiffons and kindred transparent crepes is noted. Scarfs, tiers or panels of petals, diamond-shaped pieces that are attached by one point at the hip line, and circular flounces, other ways of developing very dainty evening dresses with and without sleeves.

DO YOU WANT A REAL HOME?

If so, look up 708 North Louise street, just north of Doran street. House one year old, half-inch hardwood floors all rooms. Batchelder tile mantel, high-grade Corbin brass locks, Kohler bathtub, tile bathroom, tile sink, Vitralite enamel woodwork, four-coat work inside, large garage, redwood lattice fence all around rear, painted two coats. This place was not built to sell, but for a home. Circumstances cause the owner to offer this place at bargain price, $2000 down will handle. The house is open, or call JAMES W. PEARSON, 108 North Brand, phone Glendale 346.

MANY CANDIDATES SEEK PENROSE LEADERSHIP

Successor to Big Four
Leader to Be Selected
This Year

WASHINGTON, March 31 (United Press).—Penrose, the last of the Big Bosses, is no more, and his passing has a sequel in this year of politics in Pennsylvania.

"The king is dead; who will be king?" is the way they say it in Pennsylvania. There may never be another Quay or Penrose, but among them there will be keen rivalry for the greatest measure of power and preeminence one man can compass.

It is necessary to keep this in mind when discussing this year's senatorial campaigns in Pennsylvania. For the two United States senatorships to be bestowed next November by the voters are already figuring in one of those political chess games with which the Keystone State's political annals are led. Some of the "pieces" in this game are:

Senator William E. Crow of Uniontown, appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the death last October of Senator Knox. At the coming election the seat is to be filled for the remainder of Knox's unexpired term and another full term of six years.

Senator George Wharton Pepper of Philadelphia, serving by appointment as successor to Senator Penrose, who died December 31. A successor to serve out Penrose's term, which would have ended in 1927, is to be chosen.

Governor Sproul, whose term expires next January, and who is eligible to succeed himself, under Pennsylvania law. Sproul twice put from him the senatorial crown when he might have arranged to be appointed. He is not now a direct factor in the senatorial race, but his political aspirations may affect the hopes of some other senatorial candidates.

John Bell, Pittsburgh banker, backed by the Magee-Oliver forces there, either for Senator or Governor. He may oppose Crow.

William Burke, Pittsburgh, Congressman-at-large, former railroad worker and legislative representative of railroad men, who is being groomed to oppose Pepper. He announced his candidacy on March 10.

There are others, but these figure most in the senatorial campaigns. Crow is ill in a Pittsburgh hospital. He will not be a candidate. The Magee-Oliver republican organization in Western Pennsylvania is disposed to use Bell,

PLAY LEADING ROLES IN THREATENED STRIKE OF COAL MINERS

Unionized coal mines throughout the country will be closed and about 735,000 miners will quit work on April 1 unless the operators and union officials meet in the meantime and sign a new wage scale and working conditions agreement. Here are grouped the leaders of the operators, miners and the government. The American Federation of Labor will back the miners if they strike. Samuel Gompers, president, has announced. Secretary of Labor Davis is endeavoring to have the operators and union leaders "get together." The strike is certain, declares John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, unless the operators agree to new terms. Lewis is backed by William Green, secretary-treasurer of the organization. President J. D. A. Morrow of the National Coal association, leader of the situation for the operators, denies that the mines have earned excessive profits.

its senatorial candidate, where he can be placed to the greatest advantage. If arrangements can be made with the Vire leaders in the eastern part of the state, relating to the partition satisfactorily of the governorship and the senatorships, Bell may be either governor or senator.

Pepper's opposition from Burke will be based on Pepper's attitude towards labor and the soldier bonus. Burke is a labor champion and favors the bonus.

Sproul, the governor, has created the impression among his friends that he aspires to the presidency. He declined to get himself appointed senator because that would have hurt him. He might arrange to run for senator this time. Some of his friends tell him, though that course is all hemmed in with legal and other complications. And, besides, there is something better for him. That is the place Penrose held on the Republican national committee. Sproul seems almost certain to get that place. Then, his friends predict, he will be the logical candidate for chairman of the national committee, because of his commanding position as the representative of Pennsylvania's G. O. P., plus the fact that he already has been mentioned favorably in connection with the presidential nomination; plus the further fact that he has made himself well-known by his attention to the "governor's conference," a convocation of state executives in which he has been a leading figure on several occasions.

Sproul—his friends tell him, and the world, is bound to be Penrose's successor, in the sense that he will be the acknowledged party leader of the state. Inside the state, other leaders will divide the power and the spoils, like feudal barons, with proper regard for geographical lines, but in national politics, Sproul, like Penrose and the other Big Bosses, can be top-man, if he wills, his friends believe. And you cannot make them believe that it is President, sometime.

The Democrats? Just now they are trying to organize themselves and compose their differences so they can put senatorial candidates in the field. Some people say the Democrats have a chance in Pennsylvania this year. Others mutter something under their breaths that has to do with chances and snowballs when they hear the Democratic talk.

TEACHER IN RACE FOR TRUSTEESHIP

Prof. John C. Shedd, who has been a resident of Eagle Rock for the past six months, and has taken an active interest in civic matters, has, at the request of numerous friends, consented to be a candidate for the office of school trustee, and asks the support of all who consider him qualified for this important position.

Mr. Shedd holds the chair of physics at Occidental college, and since the work of school trustee is along educational lines, he would be able to perform its duties with a minimum of time and effort. During the war Mr. Shedd was food administrator for this district under the Hoover administration and performed his duties with efficiency.

At a certain church it is the custom of the clergyman to kiss the bride after the ceremony. A young woman who was about to be married did not relish the prospect, and instructed her prospective husband to tell the clergyman that she did not wish him to kiss her. The bridegroom obeyed. "Well, Harry," said the young woman when he appeared, "did you tell the minister that I did not wish him to kiss me?" "Yes."

"And what did he say?" "He said that in that case he would charge only half the usual fee."

DRYING DESERTS OF ARIZONA AND NEW MEXICO

Volstead Directors Report
Many Fined for Alcoholic Associations

WASHINGTON, March 30.—A total of $3450 in fines, in cases initiated in less than a week, is the report received by Prohibition Commissioner Haynes from Director Cassidy of Arizona.

"The federal court," says Director Cassidy, "by its prompt action, has aided us greatly. It is the belief of the prohibition department and of the district attorney that one of the important elements in strict enforcement of prohibition is promptness, to convince violators of the seriousness of the law and of the firmness which has been adopted as our policy."

In addition to the fines, Judge Sawtelle warned that reappearance in the court would mean nothing less than a penitentiary sentence.

From Director Dudley W. Snyder of New Mexico comes another report of prompt and wholesome action by a federal judge, an even 100 self-confessed bootleggers, within three hours, being fined from $25 to $500 each by U. S. District Judge Colin Nabstet, the total amount being $6000—$2000 an hour. Says the report:

"It was probably the largest gathering of defendants at one time in court in this state; comprising all ages from 16 to 80, including a few women. They included men who spoke the English, Spanish, Italian, Greek, Polish, Bohemian, Slovak and German languages. They came from all parts of the state, Colfax county to the north, Dona Ana to the south, McKinley to the west and Chaves to the east, and from the Mexican border."

The neighbors were chatting over the fence when Mrs. B. smiling, passed down the street. "Pretty woman, Mrs. B.," remarked one. "Who was she?" "I really have forgotten. Here's her little boy. I'll ask him. Frank, who was your mother before she was married?" Frank regarded this questioner gravely.

"She wasn't my mother before she was married," he severely replied.

The plaintiff, a colubine Italian, talked as fast as his knowledge of English would permit.

Looking down at the official reporter, the Italian noticed for the first time that his testimony was being reduced to writing (the reporter was trying his best to keep up), and thereupon began to talk faster than ever, until finally he burst forth:

"Don't write so fast; I can't keep up with you."

INTEREST IN RADIO PREVAILS THROUGHOUT THE NATION

This is the age of the radio. The "wireless bug" has made its way throughout the nation. In every large city, in every small village, radio has become the thing of the day. Scientists, students, officials and public men are imbued with a desire to "listen in."

In this group of pictures you see a variety of students. General Pershing is shown taking a message from "the air." In the picture at the left you see Miss Mathilda Bender of New York demonstrating her pocket radiophone, which she carries in her purse.

The group of girls are students of a Chicago school learning wireless in the classroom. So popular has become the radio fad that many schools are following the lead taken by Chicago.

HOME NURSING and HEALTH HINTS

SLEEPING OUT

By M. JESSIE LEITCH

"I don't believe in sleeping out of doors in winter," said the woman who settled all discussions by saying that she did not believe in whatever was under discussion.

"And I couldn't sleep indoors if I tried," said the woman who was aggressive and proud of it.

And the quiet little mouse of a woman, who looked plaintively from one to another, hoping that the matter would be dropped, was the one who went right on sleeping out of doors all winter, as comfortably warm as if she had been in bed in a house that was well aired and heated.

It all began the year she spent in the sanitarium beside the big lake, high up among the mountains. At that time the little woman had a suspicious cough and a rapid pulse, and a way of "feeling weak all over," not to mention a pain in her side and another in the region in which she believed her lungs to be located.

Enjoyed Sleeping Outdoors

And in the months she spent at the sanitarium she learned the joy of sleeping out of doors, under the stars, the wonder of falling asleep while snowflakes fell slowly on her bed, on her cheek, and melted into warm little trickles that did not do her a bit of harm.

And she also learned a few little things about the folly of attempting to do anything unless one knows why and how.

She had made the usual mistake of buying a quantity of expensive warm clothing, sleeping bags and woolen blankets. And she had suffered keenly from the oppression of too much weight over her body when she attempted to sleep out on the sleeping porch of her own home.

At the sanitarium it was very different.

The beds remained out all night, but they were fitted with castors and rolled indoors in the morning, to be made, after they had been aired.

A large double blanket was spread over the wire mattress in such a way that its sides and lower end could be folded up over the mattress when the bed was made. This prevented the cold air getting under the covers.

Just Knew She Would Freeze

The sheets were of flannel instead of cotton. There was a down comforter and one pair of lightweight blankets on the bed, and when the little woman saw the bed being made she assured the attendant that she would freeze. She did not freeze. She had reckoned without that blanket underneath the mattress.

After she was tucked into bed, with several flannel-covered hot water bottles around her, the blanket underneath the mattress was folded completely over the foot of the occupied bed. The two sides were folded up and over so that they overlapped. They were secured with large safety pins.

Finally a sheet, doubled, was stretched around the head of the bed and brought down on each side, where it was tucked beneath the mattress. It acted as a wind-shield.

And far from suffering from the weight of too many bed clothes, the woman who slept out of doors was cozy warm and comfortable.

Mrs. E. E. Simson Tells of Work Now Before
Organization

The regular monthly meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held at 2:30 o'clock next Wednesday at the Atherton Villa. The interest in the meetings is growing which it should, as the programs are replete with entertaining and instructive numbers. Mrs. E. E. Simson, secretary of the union, says the work of the order is now principally along two lines, law enforcement and development in other countries. She says that there is a great interest in South America in the prohibition movement and as the United States is looked to as a leader, representatives come to this country seeking information as to methods. Scotland, too, is another country which is seeking information and assistance from America in its fight for something like the Volstead law.

BURBANK PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Craig of Tujunga avenue have just left for Exeter, where they will make their home with their son, F. G. Craig, whose wife died very recently, leaving the husband and two young children.

Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Sherlock entertained a number of friends at their home on Cedar avenue when progressive five hundred was played and a fine buffet luncheon was served.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Spazier have left on their long extended trip to the east and Europe. Mr. Young will leave April 5 to join Mr. Spazier in Philadelphia. Mrs. Young will go on from Philadelphia to New York city to visit her sister.

Miss Alice Pillsbury, a resident of Portland, Maine, who has been the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Stickney of Palm avenue, since the first of December, expects to start for her home in a few days. She will go through Minneapolis, where she will visit relatives.

Mrs. Nash of Central avenue and Mrs. McKenzie of Grinnell avenue went to Huntington Beach Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. I. G. Fitzpatrick who live on Front street, have bought the improved acre of Mr. and Mrs. Strong on Central avenue near Main street. Another acre has been purchased by C. C. Preston. Mr. and Mrs. Strong will build a house for themselves on the remaining acre which they have owned.

L. D. Welsh, who for the past two years has been in M. C. Sutton's drug store at Van Nuys, has taken a position as pharmacist in the Lewis drug store and he and Mrs. Welsh will occupy one of the apartments in the Grinnell court. Mr. Welsh is a graduate of the pharmacy department of the Kansas university and has had a number of years' experience.

Pat Walker, who had his left arm broken several weeks ago in an accident with his motorcycle, now has the arm out of the sling.

J. O. LaPerle and son Romeo of San Diego have been visiting during the past week with Mrs. La Perle, who owns and conducts the Elite millinery store.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Brown of Magnolia avenue, who came to Burbank three months ago, have sold their property in Troy, Ohio, and will soon return there to look after business, remaining for a few weeks.

Z. J. Welch of Cypress avenue does not regain his health. He is taking radium treatments for his throat. Mrs. Welch is also not well, being a sufferer from heart trouble.

Mr. and Mrs. William Schellenberger are building a nice little house on the rear of their lots and will live in it when finished and rent their large house. The new one will have three rooms, bath and large screened porch.

Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Clark and Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Thompson of Grinnell avenue entertained a number of acquaintances from Plainfield, N. J., the city which was also their former home.

Fashions for Americans

The baby of one or two years is not very seriously thought of by style designers, clothes for this very young citizen being dependent primarily upon daintiness for their charm. Fine wash fabrics are always the first choice when materials are under consideration. Daintiness is one material that is good year in and year out, and it has been good since most grown-ups were of baby age.

The little frock shown in the sketch is an example of what may be done with a little dainty frock to make it a bit out of the ordinary. This dress is one of the staple yoke styles, with smocking in color, and a tiny embroidered flower appears on the skirt of the frock as well as on the little yoke.

As a suggestion pale blue or pink would always be desirable for smocking and embroidering the frock, or a pale yellow or lavender might be used. However, pink or blue would be first choice. This little hat or bonnet shown would also be smart and dainty for the tiny toddler. It might be of dimity matching the frock, or a plain, washable fabric might be used, with white and a pale pastel color combination.

The new spring coats for these one to two year old babies are also very smart, one particularly charming model recently seen being of pale pink crepe de Chine, the skirt finished with three narrow self-ruffles, picot edged, and set perhaps an inch apart.

This coat was made with a yoke, and the lower part was smocked where it joined the yoke, but the smocking was in pink silk matching the color of the coat. The garment was lined with white China silk. Such a coat could be washed and ironed, as there was no inner lining, and for warm weather wear it would be both practical and smart.

Long coats for tiny babies enjoy

The three-piece outfit continues to be one much favored by Dame Fashion, regardless of the fabric employed—that is, no matter whether it is a silk or wool, or whether the costume is of the sporty or dressy type. For spring the dress with matching cape is ideal, and almost always the upper part of the frock is in contrasting color.

The costume shown in the sketch is a very good example of the dressy three-piece affair, a dark, heavy silk crepe being used for the cape and lower part of the frock, with georgette or other lighter weight silk or crepe for the waist. Black and wisteria constitute a smart combination, black and a rather light blue such as porcelain or wedgwood blue are effective, and there is a generous range of red shades in the spring fashion limelight, those of the henna family probably taking first place.

In addition to the smart cape another feature of the costume shown is the skirt, which is one of the wrap-around affairs, quite popular, and to a slender figure quite becoming.

One very smart cape costume seen was of bronze brown canton crepe combined with Paisley, the frock proper being of the plain color fabric. The girdle, cuffs and rather deep yoke were of the few style changes, the newest feature perhaps being the leaning to quite wide cape collars, usually of lace or embroidery.

Even a Dress for a Two-Year-Old Baby May Have Its Touches of Embroidery in Contrast

Incidentally another coat recently seen for a one-to-two-year-old baby is worthy of mention also. It was of blue faille silk, and with a wide cape collar combining bands of ribbon in blue, with a rather heavy white lace. A similar frill appeared on the skirt of the coat.

Paisley, and the plain color cape had a long scarf of the Paisley print.

The frock of striped, checked, or figured silk, accompanied by a plain cape matching the background of the dress fabric and lined about half way up with the figured, checked, or striped fabric, is smart, this particular color and fabric combination having all sorts of interesting possibilities.

Certainly the cape seems to have come to stay, as it has not been absent from the style procession for several years now, no matter what the season.

Distinctly Smart Is This Three-Piece Costume.

"It was only a few days before Christmas and the customers of the Stuffed Turtle were gathered round the cheerful taproom fire. Suddenly a workman crossed over to one of his mates and roared out: "Ere, Bill, did you tell Smith I was a liar?" Bill looked startled. "Lor lumme, o' course not!" he cried. "I thought he knew!"

A salesman of a competitor has caused much distress in Glendale. He has told many that this cemetery is not under Perpetual Care.

In the office of the GRAND VIEW MEMORIAL PARK is the perpetual charter issued by the state of California, dated December, 1919, showing this resting place is under just that thoughtful, perpetual care.

Because of this, and the anxiety this man has created, this advertisement is issued. Those who have brought their burdened hour to us need not fear.

REST ETERNAL

Rest, eternal, perpetual, under the sovereign guarantee of the great state of California, awaits all that remains of those we surrender to mother earth on the sunny slopes of the GRAND VIEW MEMORIAL PARK.

This is a vital thing to know, for in the years will come the descendants of those who have gone before in pilgrimages. THE GRAND VIEW MEMORIAL PARK will always be as lovely, as tenderly cared for through all the years to come.

PUTTING THE LID ON

So appalling has been the onset of organized crime against the social structure, that the necessity of drastic reprisal is evident. Forces that believe in law cannot afford to remain supine while violators of the law override every restriction designed to make life and property safe. Hence there is ready sympathy for the police of every large city while it endeavors, as the common expression has it "to put the lid on." Beneath the clamped and weighted lid vice is supposed to smother and die.

It is true that in every city are petty offenders. They may be street gamins rolling dice on the alley pavement. They may be the same type, grown older, engaged in gaming in places more secret than the alley. The round of poker, among friends, with the stakes a trifle, and the whole procedure in a spirit of fellowship, comes under the ban of the statute. Such games are raided by purity squads. Often the players lack the cash to furnish the trifling bail demanded.

There are other gamblers who make their living by swindling. They are professional confidence men, a contemptible variety of thieves. Criminals themselves, they make criminals of others. To suppress them is necessary, and they have earned severe penalty. The arrest of such individuals is a triumph. Whether it is exactly the sort of triumph likely to beat back the crime wave, is a question.

At the same time that the reporter writes of these arrests he has also to write of deeds of violence, of burglaries, hold-ups, even of murders. He has to write of pedestrians waylaid, or automobilists assaulted, robbed, and possibly murdered, of service stations raided, of safes blown open, and of mails rifled.

However wicked may be a poker party, the fact that its members are arrested does not go towards assuring the public that its own security is being promoted. To know that the rattle of chips in the back room has been silenced may impart a certain satisfaction, but that the streets were being made safe, the homes protected, the thugs punished, would stimulate a warmer gratitude.

ETHICS OF DIVORCE

However sound may be the reason inspiring an application for divorce, this country does not lend approval to any action to which either party at interest is denied fair play. The accused even under the sternest of statutory codes, is entitled to make a defense. It is for this reason that the scheme of an eastern man of some political prominence to win marital freedom will be condemned.

Desiring to get rid of his wife, and to marry another woman, he went to Bulgaria, and in the courts there he was granted a divorce. His wife is said to have known nothing of his action. She could not at first believe that he had gone through the form of divorce. Being forced to admit the truth of the rumor, she still holds that there has been no divorce.

The wife who declines to be considered an ex-wife is sure to have public sympathy. There is no special respect for any divorce mill that may be grinding at the Bulgarian capital. The American who carries his grist to it is not likely to be regarded as having had a good cause or to have acted in good faith.

CONCERNING THE ARROYO SECO

An expression of regret that the Arroyo Seco was being marred by rock crushers appeared in this column recently. It seems to have been misconstrued. Against the plan of beautifying the Arroyo nobody would be likely to make protest. In order to beautify it some changes inevitably would be necessary. These would be made for the purpose of accentuating charm, or rendering the spot more accessible.

It is planned to have a great stadium built in the Arroyo. This is in promotion, largely, of the Pasadena Tournament of Roses, and the attendant sports. It is a civic enterprise of great importance to Pasadena alone, but to a wide community. To an appreciable extent this entire end of the state is interested, and the appeal made by the improved facilities will touch the whole country.

Objections voiced to changes in the Arroyo Seco have been because of destruction due to desire to utilize in a commercial way the material removed. When a rock crusher is given permission to operate, the idea is to get all the rock possible. This is done without regard to creation of a new contour, or despoilation of trees along the banks.

The stadium, on the other hand, is not a commercial affair at all. It is a much needed civic betterment. Every effort will be made to have the structure provided with a setting scenically delightful, and the structure itself in full consonance with the idea of making the whole Arroyo permanently attractive.

HITTING A "FAD"

In an article published in the Central Law Journal, Attorney James M. Kerr of Pasadena, adverts to a subject quite foreign to the main theme, which is a technical treatise on "Declaratory Judgment." The subject that he introduces in his concluding paragraph combines the judicial parole and indeterminate sentence. These, he says, tend to encourage the growth of crimes of stealth and violence.

It is interesting to get the opinion of a lawyer touching this "fad" as he terms the procedure. Doubtless a lawyer has a better chance to observe the workings of the plan than falls to the ordinary layman. The latter as a rule has not hesitated to denounce the operations, only to be informed that he did not know what he was talking about.

The prevalent impression concerning a scheme for letting criminals escape punishment in whole or in part, is based upon the records as they appear in news reports. When men are arrested for serious offense, the grave chances are that they will be found to have been at liberty on parole. Two who are charged with the murder of two Los Angeles policemen were on parole from the Utah penitentiary at the time the murder occurred.

Judicial parole, which is probation, it is possible to defend in many specific instances. First, offenders, particularly if young, may by judicious clemency be saved from criminal careers by it. Fault is found, however, when an offender is given probation after probation, as frequently has been the case, until the probationary periods over-lap. Even then he may not pause on his journey to the penitentiary, which of course he enters buoyed up by hope of an early parole.

HELPING THE JOBLESS

A parade in New York, scheduled to contain thousands of men out of work, failed to materialize. There were just enough to indicate that something was happening. Twenty-nine men marched to the city hall, and then scattered. They did not have the appearance of desiring to work. It is fair to assume that had they wanted jobs they would have been looking for them. Jobs are not proffered to men as a rule. Often there is necessity for making application.

Parades of this type are not desirable, and they can serve no good purpose. There are men out of work in great number in every eastern center of population. Much interest is felt in their behalf. They do not need to parade with banners, and are not likely to get anywhere by such method. Various organizations have taken up their cause. This is notably true of the American Legion, its chief concern, very naturally, being on behalf of its own members. Other bodies, civic and governmental, are urging the inauguration of public work that under ordinary circumstances would not be performed at this time, the reason being that there are so many who need the wages.

The public is aware of conditions, deploring them, and seeks to remedy them. Everybody knows that when there are groups of workmen skilled and unskilled, who cannot find employment, industry and business are not normal. Therefore the concerted effort to get back to a better status. The endeavor to create jobs is not all due to sympathy for the jobless. It arises partly from the knowledge that a condition withholding work from willing hands is bad economically for all.

All women think they can manage any man, and so they can until they marry him.

Nothing succeeds like the efforts of a woman to be disagreeable.

Trying to make money often results in making trouble.

Unlike a man, a hen is satisfied with a picked-up dinner.

UNCOMMITTED CRIMES

By DR. FRANK CRANE

The most dangerous crimes in the world are the uncommitted crimes.

Once a crime is committed, it is as if it set up a red flag for the warning of others.

There is a certain purgation in discovery, as there is in confession, and for the same reason.

For it is the evil that is covered up that ferments and infects the soul.

Boils are said to prevent disease, the common sense of the folk convincing them that, the disease being in the blood, it is better for it to come out, even in a painful swelling, than to remain within and cause more serious illness.

It is not the sins we committed that most damn us, but those we meditated. These latter, having no outlet, have spread their poison throughout our system.

It has been said, "As a man thinketh, so he is." And it is the clear truth.

For what a man does is often contrary to his nature; it may be the result of circumstance, or of some wayward impulse that momentarily found lodge in him, but was really foreign to his nature. His committed crime may not be his crime at all. But the uncommitted crime, the crime nourished and brooded over, this is the crime that becomes a fever in the blood, a madness in the brain.

Those agencies therefore that aim only at the outbreaking crime, at crime's repression or punishment or even prevention, do but "heal the hurt of the daughter of my people slightly, crying Peace, Peace, when there is no peace."

All a court and policeman and prisons can do is to use Fear. It is their sole reliance, their only remedy. And it cures nothing.

It serves in some degree to decrease the number of committed crimes, but that by no means implies a decrease in criminality.

There is no healing in Fear. It is but a bandage to an uncleaned wound, hence doubly dangerous.

There are only two medicines that can purge a man of Uncommitted Crimes.

They are Love and Intelligence.

Love cleanses his motives, regenerates the desires. Intelligence gives him vision, which alone can check folly.

In an imperfect way the two agencies that represent these forces are the Church and the School.

Whatever be the extravagances and shortcomings of the church, in the main its effort and its influence are in the right direction, for it aims not so much at crime but at the moral lesion from which crime springs.

Whether or not it clears away Uncommitted Crimes, it is the one great organized and permanent institution that is trying.

In this it is aided by the school. For while educated people may be as full of criminal tendencies as are the ignorant, yet education multiplies the soul's resources, and does much to make us decent by the expulsive power of wholesome interests.

When you pray, therefore, ask not only to be forgiven for the crimes you have done but also for them that you wanted to do but did not.

THE LISTENING POST

All of those things you worried about.

For people are prone to worry.
Worry is one of the results of a high intellectual and social development.
Animals do not worry.

Animals have fear.
The scared rabbit fears the swoop of the owl.
The chicken in the barnyard fears the shadow of the soaring hawk.
And sets up a cry of alarm.

The timid deer and its kind fears the prowling lion.
Or the sharp toothed and springing cat of the jungle.
And relies upon its speed and alertness to escape.
But when the prowling cat is not near there is no worry.

As far as we know.

The fear of the animals is that ever present fear of death that haunts all living creatures.
When danger of death is near.
And that is nature's means of preserving her species.
Making them cling to life.

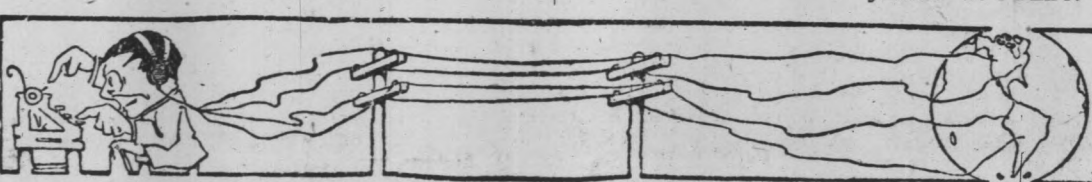

And nature adopts various means to protect her children of the air and the wood and the field.
She gives fleetness to some, strength to others, bulk to still others, wings to others, and thus she disposes her protecting agencies.

But man is the worrying creature.
And the more complex the civilization the greater the worry.
The probability is that the cave man did not worry much.

He was more like the animal.

He did not worry because he might not be able to pay the rent when it was due.
Lest the plumbing get out of order.
Lest he might not be able to keep up a front with the other cave man of his particular hill or ledge.

When he was hungry he fretted.

SONGS OF THE POETS

Work—Henry Van Dyke (1852—)

Let me but do my work from day to day.

In field or forest, at the desk or loom;

In roaring market-place or tranquil room;

Let me but find it in my heart to say,

When vagrant wishes beckon me astray,

"This is my work; my blessing, not my doom;

Of all who live, I am the one by whom

This work can best be done in the right way."

Then shall I see it not too great, nor small,

To suit my spirit and to prove my powers;

Then shall I cheerful greet the laboring hours,

And cheerful turn, when the long shadows fall

At eventide, to play and love and rest,

Because I know for me my work is best.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

HARVEY'S KNEE BREECHES

[Chicago-Tribune]

The English who saw Ambassador Harvey in his knee breeches and with his sword at the wedding of Princess Mary seem to agree that he was funny. His countrymen at home are afraid he must have been. They are glad he did not trip on his sword and land on his nose. There are so many ways in which an American ambassador, especially to the British, can trip. It seems unnecessary to hang a sword on him and have it get between his legs. He can trip over his tongue.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

The question of smoking on the part of women is so delicate that the male of the species, if endowed with ordinary caution, will "lay off it." Still, there are phases of it that might be deemed open to discussion without incurring vials of wrath from either side.

Back in New York the authorities thought they had found a law forbidding women to smoke in public places. The police began to enforce it. Finding later, that there was no such law they retired from the controversy. During the period when they were snuffing out the cigarette of beauty, they had not experienced much joy. Doubtless they were glad enough to quit.

Women are demanding equal rights. They want all legal distinctions and inhibitions based on sex to be rescinded. Whether they get all they seek, or fail to get it, there must be difficulty in understanding why a woman should be forbidden to smoke at places and under conditions that would permit men to smoke themselves black in the face.

The matter is one that will have to be governed by the canons of good taste. Estimates of what constitutes good taste change with time, and the women are potent factors in making the change. If they desire to smoke in public, nothing but their own choice can prevent, unless the same law that shuts off the opportunity from them shall leave the male deprived in equal measure of the freedom he is prone to regard as his, but not his wife's nor sister's.

William J. Burns, chief of the government secret service bureau, declares that the reds are at work in this country. They get their inspiration from Moscow. They are the agents of Lenin and Trotsky. He wants funds for the purpose of catching them. It would be curious were congress to withhold the money.

In addition to the secret propagandists, the parlor bolshevik still is busy.

There are people who advocate the use of raw food and of no other kind. They have banded into a league for promotion of longevity. But why desire to live long if deprived of most forms of food deemed palatable, the conclusion being the result of human experience?

Adam and Eve were the first to essay raw diet, and the whole world was given a raw deal as a consequence.

Nebuchadnezzar was the earliest of record to try a diet of uncooked grass. With his chin dripping green, he was led to the foolish house.

The general run of people, the type that eat what is set before them, pausing sometimes to give thanks because it has been so set, are led into confusion by the multiplicity of advisors, all at variance with each other.

Far more common than to encounter the praise of raw food is it to be warned of the danger of swallowing anything not thoroughly cooked.

Well, there you are. Eat at your peril anyhow. And be merry if you can.

There is a textile strike at Lawrence, the operatives having declined to accept a cut of 20 per cent.

Possibly if they had been able to observe at the same time a twenty per cent reduction in rent, fuel, clothing and food, they would have been in a more plastic mood.

Lenine has been the chief figure in the desolating of Russia. He heads the oligarchy maintained by violence. His policy has caused the deaths of millions. He is the same man who got into Russia under false pretenses, betrayed the diplomatic rogues who had sent him there, and explained that an agreement was never to be made in good faith but for expediency. His great ambition is a world revolution, always mentioned as "bloody."

Why should any civilized nation desire to confer with Lenine?

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

Just as I get fairly well pleased with myself, so that I begin to admire my qualities of heart and brain, something happens to roll me off my log. This time one of His Britannic Majesty's ex-servants did it.

"The eye," I said to him, "is an unfailing index of a man's character. The judge of men can never be deceived if he is able to get one searching look at and into another's eye. Some one very truly said that 'The eye is the window of the soul.'"

H. B. M.'s ex-servant agreed with me. We called the roll of our acquaintances. This man was shifty, and that one vain, and the other a bit queer. They couldn't deceive H. B. M.'s ex and myself. We sat there in the pride of our ignorance and blighted character after character. When I went home that night I told Mrs. Pilgrim of our talk.

"John," said she, "sometimes I think you are an old fool."

So the conversation ended there. I will not permit any one to call me an old fool, especially when I cannot bring evidence to the contrary. But the next morning Mrs. Pilgrim told me something. H. B. M.'s ex was a doubtful bankrupt and a more than doubtful ex-servant of H. B. M. He may have been in that gentleman's employ, but he was not able to prove it in a court of law.

"Did he borrow anything from you, John?" she asked.

He had not. But he could have borrowed, for I was never so impressed by the open candor of a man's eye in my life as I was by that of the ex-servant. I remember thinking that his basic honesty showed in his fine, open gaze, and his fearless way of confronting me. I also recall that he made an engagement with me to talk business, and I suspect that only my habit of telling my wife the day's events saved my bank account from a raid. But the worst is yet to come.

I have been thinking over that list of men we damned by our doubts. Now, they may be precisely as weak as we labelled them, but it cannot be proven. Not one of them has lived up to our prospectus of failure. If any one of them is a loose fish the fact has been demonstrated nowhere except in the said fish's eye.

I still believe that the eye is the index to a man's character. But I am prepared to confess that I am a poor reader of an index.

Listening in on Eve

STIRRING UP EXCITEMENT

"I had my pocket picked today," announced the cheerful but careless youth, who is a member of a large family that is given to speaking its mind.

"I am not in the least surprised," said his father. "I have been expecting just this very thing to happen to you, Malcolm. You are so careless and thoughtless about everything that I always look hurriedly when you arrive home nights to be sure you still retain your head."

"I suppose nothing will cure you but a few upsets like this!" added his mother, who had just discovered the roast was overdone and felt accordingly. "Maybe you will listen to a little advice after this! The way you go with your coat open and flapping, and not paying the slightest attention to anything, is simply ridiculous when you are as old as you are!"

"It's never happened before," argued the careless young man.

"Probably you will experience the same thing right along now," said his grandfather, severely. "When those sharpers find any one so easy as you are they make a note of it and pass the good word along. They'll probably trail you from now on, and if I were you I'd leave my watch at home when I went out after dark. I gave you that watch when you were 21, and if you are careful there is no reason why it won't last you a lifetime. Where were you?"

"I am sure that the tragedy occurred during the noon rush hour," explained the cheerful though robbed young man.

"There isn't a soul on earth but you who doesn't hang on to all his pockets when he attempts the noon rush hour," said his tailor-made sister, coldly. "I have no doubt you were whistling along there, as though you were alone in a country lane, with every pocket yawning invitingly! It just serves you right, Malcolm, and it will be a good lesson for you to eat 19-cent lunches for awhile to make up for it! Even if you have to go without lunches altogether, it will be fine because you are getting too fat! And you haven't the faintest idea of economy, either, the way you spend your money! With your salary you should be saving $10 a week, and if you had done as I advised you would have a nice balance in the bank right now to tide you over this emergency! I shan't loan you a cent, either!"

"Gee! Haven't you any money left?" demanded his small brother, dolefully. "You promised to buy me tickets for the game, and those new gloves; I suppose that's all off now. Gee, but you might a-thought about those things you promised and been more careful when you had money in your pocket! I betcha when I'm as old as you I won't let 'em pick my pocket! I'm going to hang on to my coin, you bet!"

"When everything costs so much too!" protested his mother. "And you've been so extravagant about ties and shirts lately that I don't see how in the world you're going to buy your new winter underwear that I told you you need! You've got to have six new suits, Malcolm! And you always send so many flowers and such a lot of candy to your girls holiday time!"

"I don't see what you were thinking of!"

"Of course you chose pay day to have it happen," commented his tailor-made sister. "When you fall in you go in all over, don't you, little one? If it had been any other soul on earth the pickpockets would have got them the day they were broke. Any other day but pay day would have found you that way, though. Most usually if they were selling $1,000,000 bonds for 30 cents you couldn't manage to buy one! Perhaps this will teach you to be a little thrifty! What are you going to do about Saturday night when you always take Horton to the show? Of course, being you, it's the most expensive night in the week, too!"

"I've told all the kids I wuz going to the game," mourned his small brother disconsolately. "It looks just as though you did it on purpose so's not to buy me the tickets!"

"They got it all, I suppose?" inquired his father, coldly. "You always wad your money up and jam it into your hip pocket as though it was an old handkerchief! Nobody with any sense carries money that way!"

"Yep," said the careless and cheerful young man. "They got everything I had in my pocket—two laundry bills and 19 cents. I'd deposited the rest in the bank. Another chap lost $20, though."

"Well, why didn't you say so before!" said his disappointed family. "The idea of your making such a fuss!"

GLENDALE REALTY BOARD MEETS

The Glendale Realty Board held its regular bi-monthly business meeting in the chamber of commerce rooms at 7:30 Wednesday, having a splendid attendance of 35 or 40 real estate dealers and friends. Considerable business was disposed of relating to state and national affairs, one item being the appointment of a committee to secure associate memberships for the California Real Estate association, the committee being Dr. Jessie A. Russell, chairman, Edith May Osborne, and Mrs. M. L. Tight. It is felt by the real estate brokers throughout the state that the work being carried on by the state association is of direct benefit, not only to its real estate dealers, but to bankers and other financial institutions, to contractors and builders, and to all interested in the civic betterment and welfare of our cities and state, and that therefore a number of associate memberships to assist in carrying on their work would be very desirable.

Each year at the national convention prizes are offered to the board, having a paid secretary and to the board having a voluntary secretary, which report the greatest accomplishments throughout the year, with particular reference to the assistance that the board has rendered to its community, as well as for itself and the national association. Glendale, one of the youngest boards to become associated with the national real estate boards, has decided to enter this contest, feeling that a splendid opportunity to secure first prize is presented, owing to the growth of membership during the last few months, and the considerable strength now exhibited in its organization.

"The proof of the pie is in the eating," and so to further this idea, a large delegation is being organized to attend the national convention to be held at San Francisco, May 31 to June 3. Although considerably reduced railroad rates are offered, it is likely that the delegation will proceed by way of automobile, journeying up with the caravan of realtors from Los Angeles, and their friends, which is to journey at least 500 strong by way of the inland route from Los Angeles to San Francisco. This caravan will provide an unique form of advertising for Southern California, and will at the same time enable our eastern visitors to gain a better acquaintance with our state as a whole.

As originally planned, the multiple listing question was again the paramount one of the evening, the board being particularly fortunate in having as its guest one who has considerable experience in the operation of such a system, and who has been president of a board which is credited with having originated that plan. W. H. Moore, ex-president of the Toledo, Ohio, real estate board, gave a splendid talk on the operation of this system and the benefits to be derived from it. Inasmuch as it has been such a splendid success in Toledo, Mr. Moore could not speak otherwise than in favor of the system, and could not acknowledge any of the objections which were raised by local realtors. These were as a matter of fact very few. Following Mr. Moore's address, a very free and full discussion of the system was entered into by practically every member present. All felt that at least something had been learned of the operation of this system, and the feeling seemed to be quite general that it would be a good plan to adopt in Glendale. The matter was referred to the multiple listing committee for further action. The members of the board were so grateful for Mr. Moore's kindness in coming to Glendale to give his views on this subject that a rising vote of thanks was tendered him.

A tall, nervous-looking man rushed into the village grocery store. "Sell me all the stale eggs you have," he demanded.

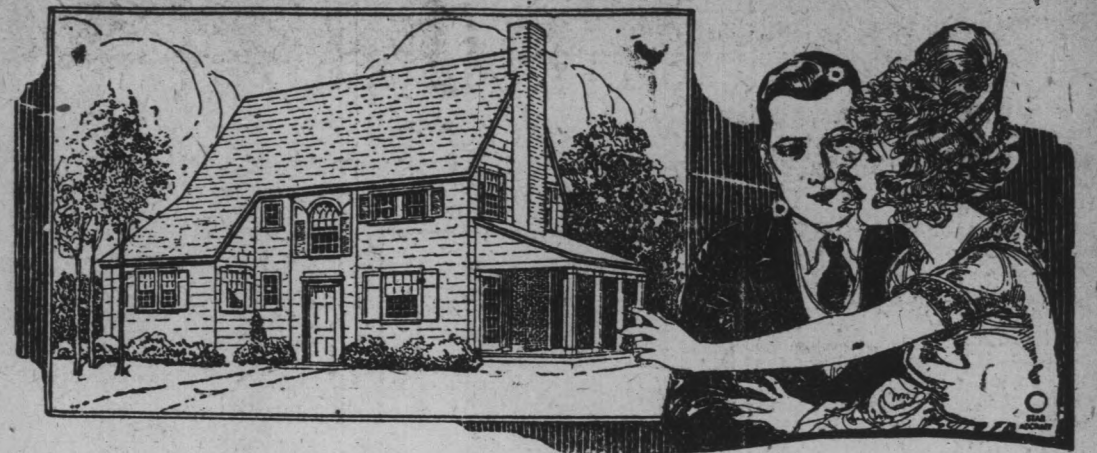

"Well, I don't usually sell stale eggs," said the grocer, "but I could let you have some if you—"

"I must have all you've got."

"I suppose you're going to see 'Hamlet' at the village hall tonight?" said the grocer, knowing him.

"Hush," said the stranger, glancing around nervously. "I'm Hamlet!"

The Barton Bedtime Stories

THE WRONG TIME FOR SNEEZING.
By JOHN BARTON
(Copyright, 1921, by Associated Newspapers)

"So now you know how Mister Noah came to be in the giraffe's stall that evening instead of in his cabin." The red dog drew a long breath to get ready for the exciting part of his tale. "Ham had fixed him a straw-bale to sit on, and he'd brought an armful of hay so his African friend wouldn't eat the captain's seat right out from under him while they were waiting."

"Waiting for what? Why, for the raven, of course. Land was what Mister Noah sent him to hunt for. He could tell about that to Shem, who was steering the ark by this time. Trouble was all the raven hunted, or all that he found. But he wouldn't tell that to any one but his wicked wife. She was waiting too, in the cage just over their heads. Pretty soon the dog let out a yelp as if some one had stepped on him. That was Ham's signal; the raven was flapping home."

"They heard him swoop down, cackling to himself as he came. They heard his wife fly up to meet him. They heard them hop up on their perch. Then all was quiet; the giraffe slid her long neck out of her window and began to listen to the whispers of those two birds. Ham and the captain listened as well, but all they could hear was the beating of their own hearts."

"All of a sudden the captain whispered to Ham, 'I've just thought of something. Hadn't you better sneak up and lock that raven in so he can't fly away again?'"

"Ham grinned and nodded. He tiptoed off—but he clean forgot to close the giraffe's door behind him. And the draught from the window blew right across Mister Noah's old bald head.

"First thing he knew, his nose began to tickle. Next he felt something inside him that just had to come out. It was a sneeze! He held it in and he choked it down, but 'A-rashew!' Out it burst!

"And out burst a wild squawk, a tempest of flapping from the ravens, and a yell! The giraffe hauled in her neck and began to plunge about in such a panic of fear the poor old captain had to crouch down behind his straw-bale to keep from being stepped on."

Both of them were hollering for

She Will Marry Michael Collins, Irish Leader

Miss Kitty Kiernan, of Granard, County Longford, soon will become the wife of Michael Collins, one of the chief leaders of the new Irish Free State and former commander of the Irish

Ham, he in his tongue and she in hers—and African sounds bad enough without hollering.

"But Ham didn't need calling; he was coming on the run. He staggered into that stall with his eyes rolling and his knees trembling. 'Oh, Lawdy, Cap'n Dad!' he groaned. 'You done did it dat time. Aat's what you done.' He was scareder than either of them."

BURBANK CHURCH ORGANIZING MEN'S BIBLE CLASS

Presbyterian Church Calls Upon Them to Meet Next Sunday

On Sunday morning at 9:45 the men of the Presbyterian Sunday school and all others who desire, will gather at the church and hold a meeting preliminary to the organization of a men's bible class, according to the announcement last Sunday night of A. A. Crawford, who is superintendent of the Sunday school. There is now a mixed class of about 50 members and it is probable that the men from this will form the nucleus of the class to be organized.

In making his announcement, Mr. Crawford spoke of the widespread movement of such classes and of the increased study of the bible, and added that he wanted the class, when it was organized, to take the bible for a text book.

The organization, with the election of officers and the selection of a teacher, will soon follow the preliminary meeting.

A violinist entered a little music seller's shop in London.

"I want an E string, please," he remarked to the man behind the counter.

Producing a box, the latter said, "Would you mind pickin' one out for yourself sir? I 'ardly knows 'es from the shes!"

BOW-WOW! THE TOWSER FAMILY "DOLLS UP" FOR EASTER

The Towser family has settled the momentous question of what to wear for Easter. They're all "dolled up" in this group of pictures. Father and Mother Hand some Harry Towser are shown taking their baby for an airing at the beach. The baby incidentally doesn't mind "leading a dog's life." Speaking of hater, take a second peep at "Missus Towser," who, well up in Yelville's "400,"

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture, you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen in a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.

SIR GEDDES GETS UNIVERSITY OF CAL. DEGREE

British Ambassador Is Honored by State With Doctor of Laws

Sir Auckland Geddes, K. C. B., British ambassador to the United States, was given the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws by the University of California at the Charter Day Exercises celebrating the 54th birthday of the State University. The British Ambassador was the main speaker on Charter Day, the subject of his speech being "To discuss some of the effects of increasing scientific knowledge upon constitutional government."

Lady Geddes, wife of the ambassador was also a guest of honor of the University on Charter Day. Among the other honored guests were Elihu Root, former secretary of state; Aurelia Reinhardt, president of Mills College, and President Suzzallo of Washington University. Wife of Alumnus Gives Trust Fund

The regents of the University of California have been made trustees of a $100,000 trust fund by a gift made by the wife of an alumnus, according to an announcement by President David P. Barrows, at the Charter Day Exercises at the University.

The income from the trust fund will be paid to the donor during her lifetime and to members of her immediate family who survive her during their lifetime. After that the donor has requested that the trustees create two funds, one of which is to create a professorship or professorships in the faculty of the university.

Other gifts totaling more than $100,000 were announced by President Barrows at the exercises.

Training Course Offered

Courses designed to prepare men and women for service in vocational schools and department maintained under the provisions of the state and federal vocational education acts have been arranged by the Summer Sessions department of the University of California. Special opportunities in fields related to vocational education are also to be offered.

Howard A. Campion, director of part-time education in Stockton, will be at the head of the department and is to give a course entitled "Science, Mathematics, and Drawing as Related Subjects." The importance of English for vocational teachers, the necessity for increased ability and facility in the use of the English language will be emphasized by Mr. Morgan of Indianapolis.

Problems in part-time education are to be discussed by Professor August Lee, assistant director of the division of Vocational Education at the university.

Production of Cows
The state of California as a whole could raise their level of production of grade cows if they followed a plan as outlined by B. H. Crocheron, professor of agricultural extension at the University of California. In a recent lecture Prof. Crocheron said:

"A recent survey made in Humboldt county, showed that there are 28,000 cows in that section of the state. The 14,000 best cows representing the higher producing herds produce an average of 339 pounds of butter fat per year or a total of 4,755,800 pounds per year, which is valued at $3,138,828. The 14,000 poorer cows produce only an average of 263 pounds of butter fat to the 3,693,200 pounds. The difference is an annual variation of $701,316."

"In order to improve poorer herds of the county there is required only the use of certain methods of dairying that are already known. All the cows should be tested for butter fat and the poorer ones should be culled out. Every herd should be headed by a purebred sire and the cows should be fed a balanced ration. In Humboldt county a purebred sire campaign was carried on and 104 purebred bulls were brought in and placed on dairy farms eliminating the scrub sires which were previously used on these farms. The average price of the bulls did not go above $150."

"The same plan is applicable to the state of California as a whole. There were 778,000 cows in California in 1920. These gave an average of 536 gallons per cow per year or about 128 pounds of butter fat per cow per year. The total annual production of these cows was valued at $55,000,000. If the level of the state's production were brought up to that of the poorer half of the cows in Humboldt county it would mean $24,200,000 per year to California or, expressing it in another way, it would add $400,000,000 to the productive capital of the state."

TUJUNGA 'RECORD' OFFERS PRIZE TO CLUBS

Shrubbery to Be Reward for Most Beautiful Improvements

TUJUNGA, March 31.—In an effort to stimulate interest in street and parkway improvement and beautification, the Verdugo Hills Record, of which Wallace M. Morgan is editor and publisher, has offered a prize of $20 worth of shrubs, flowers or trees to the neighborhood improvement club or other organization that makes the most marked improvement in its sidewalk and parking spaces during the coming year.

In making this offer the Record states that so far there has been no unified effort to beautify the public spaces along the streets. Attractive yards and gardens, some much of their beauty when viewed over a stretch of weeds and rocks, and it is to rid the parkways of these undesirable views that the contest is started.

In order to comply with the conditions of the Record's offer there must be at least two organizations or groups competing, and the results must be judged by the improvement in appearance of a completed block or blocks.

The presidents of the Women's club, the Business association, the Realty Board and the Chamber of Commerce are asked to act as judges or appoint a committee to act for them. The club winning the competition may purchase any plants or shrubs desired with the $20 nursery order.

It is suggested that other individuals or business concerns may add to the Record's prize and thus add interest to a competition which has for its object the converting of Tujunga into a city beautiful.

One of the latest Tujunga boosters to purchase a home here is Charles A. Taylor, director of the Oliver Morosco productions. Summit and Palm streets is the location of Mr. Taylor's home, and he expects to direct motion pictures in Tujunga and vicinity.

The Woman's club of Tujunga is rejoicing in the acquisition of a lot 7x100 feet in size and located on San Ysidro street near El Centro. Plans for the new clubhouse will be rushed to completion now that the location is decided upon, and members hope to have a club home in the near future.

MAGNOLIA SCHOOL PROGRAM
There will be a program given by the children of Magnolia avenue school, Friday evening, at nine school this evening at 7:30, followed by a social good time. Refreshments of pie and coffee will be served.

Foley's Friendly Fancies

JAMES W. FOLEY

ON THE HIGHWAY

The smiling face of childhood in a throng Of passing pilgrims, and that flits along With laughter stolen from age, and with a song, Merrily, merrily.

The smile, half-glad, half-sad, of troubled man, Struggling to find what happiness he can, And wondering if 'tis chance or if 'tis plan, Moodily, moodily.

The beaten face of age, that, worn, still hopes, That in a half-gloom stumbles on and gropes, And plods with weary feet by streams and slopes, Heavily, heavily.

All mixed on one inextricable blend, Travelers whose pathways have a common trend, Moving toward common destiny and end, Steadily, steadily.

Dawn, noon and dusk; birth, struggle and the pall;
Youth, manhood, age, alike the way of all;
Smile, wonder, sleep, and then the shadows fall
Peacefully, peacefully.

TEN APARTMENT HOUSE AT ELK UNDER WAY

A. G. Smith Completing $15,000 Structure and Plans Another

A. G. Smith, who has been conducting a large building program in this city within the past year, is improving a deep lot at 126 East Elk, which runs through to Lomita. On the Elk avenue side he is putting up a ten-apartment house which is to cost about $15,000. There will be six double apartments of four rooms each, and four of single or two-room apartments. They will be equipped with all kinds of built-in features and will be rented by Mr. Smith completed furnished. What rent would be charged he was not prepared to say. The exterior will be of plaster with timber trim.

On the Lomita front of the lot Mr. Smith will erect a four-apartment building at a cost of about $10,000.

Mr. Smith complains of being worn out by his strenuous activities of the past year but has no disposition to quit the game. He was the owner and builder of the big Phoenix apartments in Phoenix, Ariz., which he has just leased for ten years that he might be free to remain in California. He says that he built over a million dollars worth of homes in Phoenix, so it is clear he understands the business thoroughly.

On the lot adjoining on the Lomita side F. D. Marshall of 121 East Lomita is putting in the foundation for a four-apartment house of 16 rooms, to cost $11,500.

IRISH LINEN STORE WINS MANY PUPILS

The knitting instruction department that was inaugurated by the Irish Linen store, 117 North Brand boulevard, a short time ago, is proving unusually popular among the women of Glendale. Just one month ago W. G. Lauderdale, proprietor of this establishment, announced that for a limited time instruction in knitting would be given at his store entirely free of charge. An expert manipulator of the knitting needles has been engaged and will be glad to show the people of Glendale how the many beautiful knit articles may be made.

Many beautiful things for the spring and summer trade are now being received by Mr. Lauderdale. These include many attractive features along the line of linen draperies, nets, silks, etc. In fact, there are many pieces of goods in the shipments being received that would gladden the heart of any housewife.

Last week this firm concluded the most successful linen and silk sale it has ever put on. During this sale many excellent pieces of goods were placed on sale at remarkably low prices and the people of Glendale were not slow in noting the excellent values offered.

The business of this firm has increased wonderfully during the past few weeks. Mr. Lauderdale stated this morning that it is at least 50 per cent greater at this time than it was when he took charge on January 1, since which time three additional salesladies have been employed.

ELK WON'T HUSTLE
STEAMBOAT SPRINGS, Colo., March 31.—One hundred and fifty head of Elk, comprising one of the biggest herds on the range, are on strike. They refuse to "rustle for their grub" in the snow and are eating good hay on ranches in the vicinity of Copper Ridge. Usually, Elk are good hustlers and will thrive on shrubs even when the snow is four or five feet deep. This winter they have refused to work for their food. Ranchers are allowing the animals to eat their fill of hay as the state must pay the damages to fences and straw stacks.

DECORATE GRAVES OF SOLDIERS IN FRANCE

Resting Place to Be Visited by Comrades on Memorial Day

INDIANAPOLIS, March 31.—Graves of American soldiers, sailors and marines, who died in the world war will be visited on Memorial Day by comrades in the American Legion both at home and abroad, according to plans announced today at legion national headquarters.

Legion posts in every community in America will take charge of Memorial day ceremonies and decorate the graves of all veterans. While thousands of communities throughout this country are honoring the soldier dead in their midst, the distant graves in France, England, Italy and Russia will not be neglected. For the last two years it has been the custom of Legion national headquarters to collect a fund from the 11,000 posts for this purpose. Committees are established to take charge of this fund in France and England, composed largely of Legion men, acting in conjunction with similar bodies of officials and citizens of the various foreign countries. Posts in all European countries, co-operating with these committees, will see that the grave of every American who perished overseas is appropriately decorated.

To prevent confusion and duplication of effort in decorating graves in this country on Memorial Day, the Legion has asked all posts to organize a central graves registration bureau in every county for the purpose of properly recording graves of veterans of all wars and assigning such graves to the individual posts for proper decoration.

National headquarters suggests that the following information be obtained in regard to each veteran buried in home cemeteries: Name, organization, dates of enlistment and death, rank, discharge and place of burial, giving exact location by lot and number. Definite information in regard to the last resting places of all veterans obtained by the Legion's Graves Registration Bureau will prove invaluable, in later years, Legion officials believe.

YEAR IN ONE HOUR AT THE GLENDALE

A picture calculated to appeal to the imagination is "The Four Seasons," conceived and executed by Charles Urban and Raymond L. Ditmars. It may be called the oddest feature ever produced since the drama is enacted by all the animals and birds and insects of Nature's kingdom, while the skies, woodlands, forests, streams, mountains, plains, brooks and nests provide the background. "The Four Seasons" comes to the Glendale theatre today.

EDMUNDSTON, Alberta.—Alberta, with 5,927,270 tons of coal mined during 1921, provided the third largest production of coal in the history of the provinces.

SMALLEST DIRIGIBLE IS PERFECTED BY ITALIAN ARMY AIR SERVICE

Experts of the Italian army air service have perfected the smallest lighter-than-air dirigible in the world. The new craft is only 117 feet long and 25 feet wide. It travels at the rate of 45 miles an hour. The new craft, equipped with two 40 horsepower engines, was constructed by the same men who built the giant Roma, purchased by this country from Italy, which fell at Hampton Roads, killing 34 men.
